DEMOCRATS RELAX AFTER VICTORY OF MONETARY MEASURE

VISIONS OF MIGHTIER AMERICAN NAVY ACCOMPANY BIG APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—Chairman Vinson of the naval committee predicted to the house today that Japan would insist upon a fleet as big as America's when present treaties expire, and asked approval of a $380,000,000 United States naval building program.

Denying that this government has any intention of engaging in an armament race, Vinson urged a five year program to bring the United States fleet up to present treaty limits by 1939.

The London treaty expires December 31, 1936, he reminded, adding:

"Japan has made clear that she will be dissatisfied with a navy smaller than those of Great Britain and the United States, so it seems unlikely that she will agree to continue the existing ratio when the present treaty expires."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Visions of a mightier American navy accompanied the department's almost $285,000,000 bill today to the house, where ready passage was a foregone conclusion.

Pleased by the topheavy margin won Saturday for the Roosevelt monetary bill, the democratic leadership there was in a relaxed mood for the navy measure—in contrast with furrowed brows when the senate administration men as they contemplated formidable opposition to the gold-currency legislation.

Turning to skeptical sentinels of the senate banking committee—Democrats Glass and McAdoo—Professor Warren of Cornell explained the monetary legislation. Much more testimony-taking was

Negro Hunters, Ordered Away, Killed Farmer

WEATHERFORD, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Murder charges were filed here today against Swift Lewis and Robert Butler, Fort Worth negroes, in connection with the slaying Sunday of W. S. Golden, 64, farmer.

Lewis is in the Parker county jail, having surrendered after the shooting on the Golden farm east of Weatherford. Officers are searching for Butler.

Golden was shot by one of the two negro hunters he ordered off his farm. The shooting was witnessed by the farmer's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Golden, who were about 300 yards away.

The son told officers that Golden ordered the negroes off the place, than dismounted from his horse and drew his pistol. Both negroes leveled their shot guns at the farmer, the officers were told, but only one charge was fired.

Hugh Golden turned his dogs after the fleeing negroes but they escaped for the time being.

Because feeling was high in Weatherford, Lewis was taken to Fort Worth Sunday night, but was returned to the Parker county jail later.

Seven in Daring Kansas Prison Break

—International Illustrated News Photos.

These convicts participated in the latest daring outbreak at the Kansas penitentiary at Lansing. Led by Bob Brady and Jim Clark, members of the Harvey Bailey-Wilbur Underhill gang of desperadoes who staged the break at the same prison last Decoration Day, a gang of seven convicts went over the prison wall at almost the same place where last year's dash for freedom was made. Those in the latest break: 1 Bob Brady; 2 Bennie Young; 3 Charles McArthur; 4 Frank Delmar; 5 Fred Cody; 6 Tommy McMahon; 7 Jim Clark.

INTENSIVE SALES CAMPAIGN URGED PRESIDENT'S BALL

BUILDING BEING PUT IN CONDITION FOR BIG SOCIAL AFFAIR NEXT WEEK

With only a week remaining before the President's Birthday Ball and Party, Ticket Chairman Ted B. Ferguson gave orders to his committeemen Monday to renew their intensive sales efforts in a unified drive Tuesday morning with the hopes of disposing of a thousand tickets in the city within two days.

Meanwhile other preparations for the tri-purposed celebration were going forward rapidly. A crew of men were engaged Saturday afternoon in giving the L. T. Davis building on South Main street, where the party will be held, a thorough cleaning on both floors. Another cleaning will be given the building this week and the floors waxed, insuring a perfect surface on the maple planking for the party.

Install Amplifier System.

Another group was scheduled to start the erection of the orchestra platform in the center of the lower floor, and as soon as that is completed the amplifier system will be installed, which will insure ample music for dancing both on the first and second floors of the building. The contract for the amplifiers was awarded to Lawrence McCarver of the Radio Service Company, and he will also supply a large radio to present the nation-wide program, beginning at 10:15 next Tuesday night on which President Roosevelt will

Charred Body of Murdered Youth Is Identified

FORT WORTH, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Definite information that Thomas Benton Gullett, 18, was killed for revenge and his body left in a blazing barn near Burleson Friday night or early Saturday morning has been obtained by Hill county officers.

Sheriff J. W. Freeland of Hillsboro announced he expected to make an arrest tonight or Tuesday morning.

CLEBURNE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The charred body of a young man discovered in a burning barn southwest of Burleson has been identified as that of Thomas Benton Gullett, 18, and investigating officers suspected he might have been slain in a robbery.

Remains of the farm youth were identified by his father, T. G. Gullett, of Bethel community in Hill county. A key, a wrist watch and

WARDEN PROBING ABSENCE GUARD IN KANSAS ESCAPES

FIRST TO MAKE BREAK IS RECAPTURED; PAIR BELIEVED NEAR TULSA

LANSING, Kas., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Warden Lacey Simpson said today that Eugene J. Vader, 24-year-old guard at Kansas state prison, had not reported for duty since seven convicts escaped Friday morning.

The warden said the conduct of Vader, who was stationed at No. 5 post on the prison wall at the time of the escape, was being investigated. Although the post is about a quarter of a mile from the place where the convicts climbed over, Vader left his station, the warden said.

The guard was on duty when 11 convicts escaped over the wall last Memorial Day, the prison official said.

The first of the seven convicts to leap to the ground after scaling a wall of the penitentiary was

Veteran Naval Dirigible Comes To End of Trail

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The airship Los Angeles, the navy veteran, has seen the end of her active days.

Testifying before the house appropriations committee in hearings released today, Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, said a special investigation had shown the big ship "unsafe" for further flights.

She is tied up now at Lakehurst, New Jersey, and Standley said "just what will happen to her I cannot say now, but she will probably be scrapped."

Secretary Swanson is to make the final decision.

BREMER FAMILY TO DEMAND PROOF THAT SON IS YET ALIVE

DECIDE MAKE NO PAYMENT UNLESS RECEIVE NOTE; HOPES ARE WANING

ST. PAUL, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Unusual activity by police and members of the Bremer family today provoked renewed speculation over whether contact with the kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy banker abducted for $200,000 ransom, was impending.

Walter Magee, wealthy contractor and friend of the Bremers, could not be found and inquiries as to the whereabouts of the man who received the first and only note from the kidnapers shortly after Bremer was seized about 8:30 a. m., last Wednesday elicited replies of "I don't know" at his home and office.

At the Jacob Schmidt Brewing company, of which Adolph Bremer is principal owner, the telephone line of the personal friend of President Roosevelt was kept clear by the company's operator.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Despair crushed waning hopes today for early release of Edward G. Bremer, kidnaped for $200,000 ransom, as the Bremer family determined to refuse to barter a fortune for his safe return unless they first receive assurance he is still alive.

A message from the kidnapers and signed by the 37-year-old Commercial State Bank president and owner, which would give such reassurance, was vainly awaited over the week end but was not forthcoming as the 113th hour passed without word from the abductors.

Blood, a shagy scrawl, a death threat and a mysterious note declaring Bremer had been "bumped off" intensified alarm for the manw ho last was seen between 8:20 a. m. and 8:30 a. m. Jan.

COTTON CAMPAIGN DEADLINE DRAWING NEAR; FEW CONTRACTS

QUOTA FOR NAVARRO COUNTY IS APPROXIMATELY 100,000 ACRES

With two-thirds of the time for the conducting of the campaign gone, and definite information from state and national officials that no time extensions would be made, Navarro county committeemen in charge of the cotton acreage reduction campaign were faced Monday with the necessity of completing four-fifths of the work in the remaining ten days of January.

Officials in charge of the campaign reported Monday that about 525 reduction contracts had been signed and sent in to the central committee at that time, representing about one-fifth of the total number of contracts which will assure this county making its quota. It is estimated that between 2500 and 3000 contracts will be signed in this county if the campaign is successful.

15,000 Acres So Far.

A survey of the contracts presented so far indicates that they cover about 15,000 acres or less than one-sixth of the total acreage which has been given as a reduction quota for this county, approximating 100,000 acres. Even if Navarro county farmers only take the minimum reduction of

WOMAN PHYSICIAN ACCUSED OF MURDER WILL DECIDE TRIAL

JUDGE RULES AFTER REPORT OF DOCTORS ON MRS. WYNEKOOP'S CONDITION

CRIMINAL COURTS BUILDING, CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A mistrial in the case of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop was declared this afternoon by Judge Joseph B. David.

The judge ruled that continuing the trial would "constitute a very real danger to the defendant's life."

CRIMINAL COURTS BUILDING, CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Judge Joseph B. David ruled today that Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop should decide for herself whether she could continue on trial for murder in the slaying of her daughter-in-law, Rheta.

He made the ruling after reports of three physicians who examined Dr. Wynekoop Saturday had been read in court. The reports varied as to whether Dr. Alice was physically able to stand trial.

Judge David ordered that Dr. Francis W. McNamara, chief physician of the county jail, should take all the available physicians reports to the jail and inform Dr. Wynekoop of her condition. He said attorneys for the defense, the States attorneys and her daughter Catherine would be present.

"Then," said the judge, "if a signed request from the defendant asking that the trial be postponed is brought back to me I will consider that aspect. After all, only the defendant is in a position to make such a request."

Of the doctor's reports given the court, one was from Dr. William D. McNally of the Cook county behavior clinic, suggested by Assistant State's Attorney Dougherty to examine the defendant with two other physicians. His report

CWA PROJECTS IN NAVARRO COUNTY RESUMED MONDAY

ALLOTMENT $1500 WEEKLY RECEIVED FOR EMPLOYMENT TEAMS-TRUCKS

An allotment of $1500 per week was made Navaror county by the Texas relief commission over the week end for the employment of teams and trucks on CWA projects which were under construction when the shutdown orders were issued last Friday, according to information received from relief headquarters in Corsicana Monday.

With this appropriation, projects which were halted last week were resumed Monday and will be carried to completion as rapidly as possible. The grant enabled the use of 20 trucks and teams on a project at Kerens, 10 on one at Richland, four at Dawson; Purdon was using eight, W. V. Mowlam, sanatarian, one, and J. B. Davies, supervisor of the Lake Halbert project, 45.

Work on the road project in connection with the beautification of the north shore of Lake Halbert was resumed Monday and will be pushed as rapidly as possible. A large portion of the mile or more of road to be built from Highway 22 to the work project had been excavated Saturday and was ready for graveling and officials announced that this would be completed as quickly as possible.

Believed Be Near Death

Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, agony written on her pallid features, is shown in her wheel chair as she was taken away from the courtroom Friday after her condition was found to be such that a delay in the trial until Monday was necessitated. The aged woman asked a mistrial Monday due to her illness. The presiding judge said he would grant the plea.

SUPPORT IS VOICED FOR MONETARY PLAN BY ROOSEVELT AIDE

PRESIDENT DISCUSSES SILVER SITUATION AT WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Support for the administration's dollar-devaluation legislation was voiced today before the senate banking committee by Professor George F. Warren, one of President Roosevelt's chief advisers, while the chief executive himself discussed the silver situation at a white house conference.

To a packed committee room, the Cornell professor, whose Washington activities have been somewhat mysterious, expounded his views that the price of gold determines to a considerable extent the price of commodities.

He argued that the administration's action to increase the gold cost should result in somewhat higher commodity prices, which is a principal goal of Mr. Roosevelt's efforts.

The President went over the Silver problem with Senators Wheeler of Montana and King of Utah and Representative Fiesinger of Ohio, all democrats. The group declined comment, but indicated no conclusions were reached on a definite new silver move.

The conferees said no new proposal was advanced but that rather the conference was a general discussion.

Senator Wheeler indicated he was contemplating proposing an amendment on silver to the mon-

PRESENT BUILDING PLANS WILL BRING NAVY NEAR LIMITS

HOUSE COMMITTEE TAKES ISSUE WITH NAVAL CHIEF AS TO POOR CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—A United States Navy near London treaty limits upon completion of its present program was pictured today by the house appropriations committee in reporting a $284,747,000 naval supply bill.

Taking issue with statements of Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, that the condition of the fleet was not satisfactory, the committee reported construction under way will "upon completion, will bring current with treaty limitations in all combatant categories, completely discounting average tonnage."

The committee provided for an increase of 2,800 enlisted navy and 1,000 marine personnel.

The measure is $23,922,000 less than the current appropriations and $1,585,000 below budget estimates. Transfers of unused funds totaling $9,085,000, however, would bring the actual cash withdrawals from the treasury for the navy to $293,833,000.

Admiral Standley urged the committee to increase navy enlisted personnel to 85,000, although saying he realized President Roosevelt had asked for only 82,000 men.

If the United States built up to the London treaty requirements, he said, the annual maintenance cost would be $458,535,000. At the end of the fiscal year 1935, however, he asserted, the United States on the basis of 90 per cent complements, would be short 10,025 enlisted men and twelve ships, not

Father Strangles Two Sons; Alleges Vision From God

SEATTLE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A 37-year-old fisherman, Oskar Hestness, a self-styled "messenger of God" today was charged with first degree murder for strangling his two little sons.

Chief of Detectives Lukas May said Hestness gave as a motive a "vision from God" ordering him to "choke the devil out of" the boys.

Authorities will study the man's mental condition.

In words including many religious references, the Fisherman described the killings. The victims were his only children, John, 10, and Henry, 4.

"I killed John first. Last Tuesday he came from the Pentacostal temple, and I asked him who sent him. He wouldn't answer. Then I asked him 'who is in you'?

"He said 'the devil is in me.' Then God appeared to me and He told me to choke the devil out of him."

He added that he killed Henry Wednesday.

The bodies were found in the Hestness small four-room home Sunday, after the parents had been placed under arrest the previous night. A minister, the Rev. O. L. Haavik, of the Ballard First Lutheran church, had found them in his garage, in possession of his car.

BATTERY OF LAWYERS LINED UP IN CHICAGO COURT MONDAY FOR LARGEST RACKET TRIAL

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Batteries of attorneys representing the State and the defense lined up today for a battle royal in the courtroom of Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal Court as the largest racket trial in the United States reached the point of opening statements.

To State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, Cook County's most youthful prosecutor, the trial of the 18 defendants meant the culmination of his first effort to rid Chicago of the labor racketeer.

Inducted to office a little over a year ago on a platform to banish gangsters and racketeers, Courtney and his staff launched an investigation of the toll legitimate business men paid to the underworld, and said it ran into millions annually.

On July 27 last year, Courtney tossed a bombshell with an announcement of blanket indictments against 24 men charged alike with bombing, acid throwing, and conspiracy to restrain legitimate trade through terrorism. However, only 18 have been brought to trial.

Citizens of prominence were drawn into the indictment net along with the notorious of

ST. LOUIS WOMAN SEEKS LEGAL PENALTIES FOR JESSE H. JONES FOR FAILURE ANSWER QUESTIONS

FORT WORTH, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The question of whether Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, rode in the baggage compartment of the plane of Capt. Frank Hawks, speed flier, 300 miles from Fort Worth to Houston to dodge service of a subpoena came up in federal court today.

The point was raised when motions seeking to have legal penalties imposed on Jones and the RFC for failure to answer interrogatories propounded to them in the receivership suit against the Fort Worth Properties Corporation by Mrs. Selma Sternberg of St. Louis were filed.

The motion directed at Jones seeks to strike out a motion filed by him to vacate a default judgment taken against him for failure to file answer to the suit. Jones is alleged in the suit to hold a dominant interest in the Fort Worth Properties Corporation, in which Mrs. Sternberg was a bondholder.

The second motion asks that all pleas and motions of the RFC be stricken because of its failure to answer interrogatories propounded to it through its chairman. The questions which Jones as chairman of the RFC, was asserted to have refused to answer concerned his connection with the Bankers Mortgage Company of Houston which received a loan from the RFC.

One of the allegations in the Sternberg suit is that the collateral upon which the loan was obtained was bonds against the Fair building here, another Jones enterprise. The suit alleges the loan is void because the statutes prohibit the RFC from lending funds to any concern in which one of its members is interested.:

The questions directed at Jones himself, and assertedly left unanswered, touch upon his alleged effort to dodge service of subpoena in the suit here last October 19 by hurriedly leaving for Houston in the plane of Captain Frank Hawks. One of the questions asked whether Jones rode from Fort Worth to Houston in a "cramped and uncomfortable position" in the baggage compartment of Hawks' single-seated plane.

Jones' presence in Fort Worth on that occasion was as a member of a party of high administration officials visiting here.

RESIGNATION OF JAPANESE WAR MINISTER MAY MEAN AN EFFORT AT LIBERAL CONTROL

Three Prison Guards Fired As Result of Raid

HUNTSVILLE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Three guards were jobless today because of Prison Manager Lee Simmons' dissatisfaction with their actions during a delivery at Eastham prison farm last Tuesday in which Clyde Barrow, notorious gunman, was instrumental in liberating five convicts.

The discharged guards were S. S. Mathis, J. R. McCaffitty and Doc Robertson.

"I am not firing you because you got out of the line of fire, but because you ran off and left your squads of convicts," Simmons told the guards. "I don't blame any man for seeking shelter when he is fired upon but I do blame you for running off and leaving the men you have been sworn to guard."

Tom Small, assistant manager of the farm, told Simmons he found the three guards 500 yards behind the line of fire and away from their squads of convicts.

TOKYO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Gen. Sadao Araki, who in the eyes of the world personified the militant spirit with which the Japanese nation has been imbued in the last two years, relinquished the portfolio of minister of war today and at least temporarily retired from the political stage.

Premier Saito, after futilely urging the bed-ridden war-lord to reconsider, accepted his resignation.

Afterward, the premier acquiesced to the recommendation of members of an informal conference of high ranking military leaders that General Senjuro Hayashi succeed Araki. General Jinzaburo Mazaki, member of the supreme war council, was chosen to succeed Hayashi as inspector-general of military education.

Hayashi's formal installation was scheduled for tomorrow. He will be inducted into office in time to take his seat on the government bench when parliament is reconvened.

It was considered too early confidently to gauge the significance of the cabinet change, but among Japanese politcal writers and non-Japanese military experts strong opinion prevailed that Araki's retirement may be the signal for

LARGE AMOUNT OF MONEY TO BE SPENT FOR IMPROVEMENTS HERE

COURTHOUSE, TIGER FIELD AND STATE HOME ARE INCLUDED

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR LABOR AND MATERIALS SCHEDULED

With one improvement project under way, formal application for another now with the Texas relief headquarters in Austin, and with plans ready for presentation before the Public Works Administration in Fort Worth for a third project this week, indications point to a large outlay of money for labor and materials in Corsicana within the immediate future.

The three projects are the State Home, county courthouse and Tiger Field improvements, with an estimated outlay of $57,575.

With the resumption of CWA work in Texas as announced from Washington aid Austin during the week end, favorable action on the courthouse repairs is expected soon.

Projects Under Way.

The State Home projects—$23,000—including a new superintendent's home, a modern football plant and additions and improvements to several buildings— are under way at the present time. This is a CWA project. The improvements at the courthouse represent an estimated expenditure of $21,000 and includes repairs to the roof, rebuilding of the east wall and the underpinning and shouldering of the foundations which have settled. The courthouse project is before the state CWA administration.

Application will be made this week to the PWA board in Fort Worth for the Tiger Field improvements and the new locker rooms at the high school building. The architect's plans call for $13,575 expenditure.

W. P. McCammon, president of the Corsicana school board, in discussing the proposed improvements, made it plain that an outright grant was sought, leaving approximately $10,000 PWA loan to be repaid from the proceeds of athletic contests over a period of years.

To Repay Loan.

"The repayment of the loan for the Tiger Field and other improvements will be made from the revenues derived from athletics, and will not be taken from the regular school funds derived from taxation of property," President McCammon said.

When the improvements at Tiger Field are finished as contemplated, Corsicana will be equipped with perhaps the finest high school athletic field in Texas. More suitable showers will be provided and the seating capacity to more than 20,000 will be available, in addition to walks—gravel and concrete—an attractive entrance and other needed improvements.

Repairs and additions, including the construction of a new superintendent's home and a modern and up to date athletic field at the State Home are under way at the present time, representing an expenditure of approximately $23,-000.

Brick Veneer Building.

The old superintendent's home has been razed and the materials being used in the new two-story brick veneer structure. Arrangements are being made in the new superintendent's home whereby several of the older girls of the institution will be allowed to visit frequently to get the benefits of home life outside of the home. A guest's room, with separate entrance and bath for visiting officials and guests of the Home, is also included. The foundations have been finished and the frame is under construction at the present time.

One of the most modern and best equipped athletic fields in this section of the country is to be constructed for the State Home teams, one of the leaders in this section for years. The new athletic field for football and track events will be located on the northwest section of the building area, north of the dairy barn.

A quarter-mile cinder track is provided with a 220-yard straightaway track in front of the grandstand.

The gridiron will be a turtle-back field, sodded in Berumda grass. Seven sections of wooden seats, with accommodations for 1,-200 grid fans, are to be erected on concrete foundations.

Lights for Night Games.

Lights for night grid games are included, with 32 lights of 1,500 watts, stationed on poles 60 feet high. The State Home lights will be 20 feet higher than those at Tiger field, Corsicana high school athletic plant.

The new athletic field will be enclosed with an eight-foot chain linked wire fence.

With this new arrangement, patrons witnessing the State Home contests will have comfortable seats and the officials will be enabled to charge admission for the games. Under the arrangement for years, the grid contests and track and field meets were held on the grounds north of the main entrance to the Home.

Alterations and partitions are being made in the dining hall and in the administration building.

Four showers are being added in the older girls' dormitory.

Gravel Road.

The materials have been purchased and the work will be started soon on the laying of 3-8 mile of gravel road, beginning near the boys' dormitory and extending around to the garage and other buildings. This will be constructed of an eight inch base of crushed rock and topped with pea gravel. An effort may be made later to secure the asphalting of the road, but it is not included in the present project.

The ice plant is being completed under the project and will be put in operation within the near future. Most of the plant had already been constructed.

There are about 100 CWA men working on the State Home projects, representing 2,422 men-days labor.

H. O. Blanding is the architect in charge of the State Home improvements.

Courthouse Repairs.

Repairs at the county courthouse are estimated at approximately $21,000 and includes under pinning and shouldering the present foundations at all corners and intermediate locations where necessary, and the rebuilding of the northeast wall. The roof will also be repaired.

The application for this project has been presented to the Texas civil works administration at Austin.

Included in the repairs to the foundations will be 276 cubic yards of concrete and 3 1-2 tons of reinforcing steel. Where the underpinning and shouldering is to be done to stop and prevent the cracking and bulging of the foundations and walls, the new pad will be approximately three feet deeper than the present concrete foundations.

Most of the expenditure for this project will be for labor, and a considerable amount of common labor will be employed. It is estimated that 3,094 men days will be required to complete the work.

The county has tile calculated to be sufficient to repair the roof of the building.

Robert O. Jameson of Dallas is the consulting engineer while H. O. Blanding and M. T. Horn of Corsicana are the associate architects.

Cracks in Building.

The courthouse has gotten in a much worse state of repair during the past several months and bricks have fallen in the vault of the county clerk's office. Cracks in the east and west walls have widened noticeably during the past several weeks. A number of experts and others have viewed the condition of the building, and all have stressed the necessity of immediate repairs.

Tiger Field Improvements.

Corsicana will have one of the best equipped and finest athletic plants in the entire country when improvements contemplated are completed.

An application to the PWA offices, Fort Worth, will be made within the next few days.

Included in the improvements will be the addition of 179 lineal feet to the present stands, bringing the seating capacity to 4,993 persons, counting 18 inches to the person or 5,400 seats, counting 16 inches to the person.

A gravel walk, 1,700 feet long and nine feet wide is to be constructed from the entrance on Fifth avenue, around and in front of the stands, enabling the grid fans to go from the concrete entrance to their places in the stands without getting in mud during inclement weather conditions.

The expenditures on the project at Tiger field and locker rooms at the high school building are expected to appropriate $13,575.

Concrete Floor.

A concrete floor from the main entrance will extend to the stands entrance—24 feet deep and 42 feet wide, covered with a roof. The main entrance will be of stucco construction, and will have two ticket offices and six turnstiles to handle the crowds quickly and without delay. Two exit gates will be added.

Over the attractive main entrance the name "Tiger Field" will be written in wooden letters and also with Neon lighting system for night purposes.

A new locker and showers room is to be constructed at the high school over the present boiler room, and will be in keeping with the appearance and design of the high school building.

The new room will be 21x81 1-2 feet, and will be of brick and reinforced concrete.

Two Shower Rooms.

There will be two shower rooms with five showers in each, a toilet and a drinking fountain in each. A concrete stairway will lead from the lockers to the storeroom in the present quarters used as a storeroom and dressing quarters fr the football teams.

Under the new arrangements, there will be 100 lockers, giving ample accommodations for both the first and second teams.

A taping room is also provided in the new arrangement at the high school including a cabinet and table so that the athletes can be taped as quickly as possible.

The $13,575 expenditure will be divided about equally between labor and materials.

H. O. Blanding and M. T. Horn are the arihitects for the high school athletic projects.

the first to be recaptured. Charles Clifton McArthur, sentenced for robbery was returned to prison Sunday. The others still are at large.

McArthur, 29, was arrested yesterday a block from police headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. He still wore his prison clothing which he said he thought might pass as work clothes. William G. Smicker, a special railroad agent, recognized the togs.

The convict said his escape was handicapped by a broken leg bone, received when he dropped too stiffly to the ground. He would not discuss plans for the break and said he did not know where the other convicts were.

The Kansas board of administration begins an investigation of the escape today.

Report Convicts Seen.

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A belief that that at least two of the convicts who escaped from the Lansing, Kas., prison are dodging about in the vicinity of Tulsa grew here today.

From Sapulpa came reports that Bob Brady and another of the seven fugitives had been seen both in Kellyville and Sapulpa during the week-end, and from Miami, in the northeastern corner of the state, Brady was reported by a clerk to have made a small purchase.

Two automobiles, nearly new, were stolen within a half hour in Sapulpa, while Brady and another convict were supposed to have been in town.

MEXIA SEEKING AID TO SECURE AIRLINE HIWAY NORTH-SOUTH

MEXIA, Jan. 22.—(Spl.)—Assistance of Houston and Fort Worth Chambers of Commerce in the development of an air line highway between the two cities is being solicited by the Mexia Chamber of Commerce. A movement is under way requesting designation of a highway from Waxahachie to Mexia via Italy, Frost and Dawson, which would connect with the newly acquired right of way from Mexia to Normangee and North Zulch. With a road from there to Anderson and Houston the route would be almost an airline between the two cities.

The Southern Pacific's abandoned Nelleva cutoff, Mexia to Navasota, has been purchased by the counties through which it passes and i s being made into a fine graveled road. The state is to be asked to designate this road as a state highway from Mexia to North Zulch, from where a direct route could be obtained to Houston.

The road would serve a section not now served by a north-south highway and open for development a rich section of Texas. Committees have been appointed to obtain the right of way for the Waxahachie to Mexia link, and representation already has been made to the state highway department on this section. J. Floyd Smith, Dawson, is chairman, and Jake Stubbs, Mexia, secretary of a temporary organization on the Waxahachie-Mexia highway.

Volunteer Celery Found Growing in Yard Kerens Woman

Recently Mrs. Sylvan Stucker of Kerens discovered a nice patch of "weeds" at the end of the drainpipe from the icebox and sink in the kitchen. As a tidy housewife she pulled up some of the "weeds" and in doing so bruised the leaves, and noticed a celery odor.

Later she recalled that she had washed some celery seed down the drain pipe several weeks before, and began to cultivate the "weeds." The plants were tied up and she plans to place some of it on display in the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce as soon as it is bleached.

Mrs. Stucker is a co-operator with the farm food supply demonstrator of the Long Prairie Home Demonstration Club.

CHAMPIONSHIP GO SCHEDULED 7:30 SATURDAY NIGHT

PLENTY ACTION WAS SEEN AT MILDRED GYM FRIDAY AND FRIDAY NIGHT

Seven te[illegible] are fighting for the [illegible]onship of the third [illegible]ildred invitation [illegible]t on the Mil[illegible]urday and Sat[illegible] night. The competi[illegible] got under way Friday [illegible]ning with seventeen of the nineteen entries on hand from a number of Central Texas communities. The remaining clubs are composed of tall, rangy players, and little difference was shown in the ability of the survivors, considering the first day's performance.

Saturday's schedule follows:
Richland vs. Purdon, 9:30 a.m.
Emhouse vs. Dawson, 10:30 a.m.
Blooming Grove vs. Malakoff, 11:30 a.m.
Navarro vs. winner of Purdon-Richland, 2:30 p.m.
Winner of Emhouse-Dawson vs. winner Blooming Grove-Malakoff 3:30 o'clock.

The consolation game will be played at 6:30 o'clock and the championship struggle will be staged Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Track and Spring Grid Practice To Be Started Soon

Track and field practice will get under way about Feb. 1 according to an announcement during the week-end by John A. Pierce, football cocah. The track team will be under the coaching of Pierce and Jimmie Gardner, cage mentor. Pierce will be in charge until the close of the basketball season.

Coach Pierce also announced that spring football training would get under way for the candidates for the 1934 club about March 1. There are twenty-six veterans from the 1934 district championship club to be back in the event none are lost via scholastic difficulties and other reasons.

The track teams during the past several years was under the direction of Jake Hanna, assistant grid mentor. The coaching staff was reduced to two men by the school authorities as an economy measure at the beginning of the present session of school. Gardner is assistant football coach and head basketball mentor.

GIRLS' INVITATION BASKETBALL TOURNEY PLANNED BY Y.M.C.A.

Preparations were going forward Monday morning at the Y.M.C.A. for the first annual county girls' Invitation Basketball tournament, which opens Friday morning and continues through Saturday night. All the attractive medals and trophies have arrived, and were displayed Saturday night at the jamboree program.

It is hoped that at least 16 teams enter the play, but arrangements are being made to handle more than that number, in the event they enter. Drawings for places will take place at 8:30 Friday morning, and the first game will start as soon thereafter as possible. One game will be played each hour, with the possible exception of an hour out for dinner and supper on each day.

The Corsicana Aces, who defeated Rosser Valley Farms 148-28 Saturday night, will meet some stiff opposition in the Waxahachie Rangers at 7:30 Saturday night, as an added attraction for the consolation and final games.

The attractive trophies and medals going to the teams and individual members of the clubs will become the permanent property of the schools winning them, and will not have to be returned for next year's tournament. It was announced today.

For the first time, this year, a girls' tournament will be conducted with two-division court rules. The new rules considerably speed up the game, and all the girls' teams over the county have orientated themselves to the change, in a number of practice games during the past few weeks.

Tommie Younger Will Leave Mildred Friday Hensarling In Charge

Mildred high Eagle cagers will conclude their play under the coaching of Tommie C. Younger, Thursday night, by invading Mexia for a game with the Black Cats. Younger will leave Friday to assume his duties as athletic director and football coach at Waxahachie high school.

Paul Hensarling, member of the Mildred faculty for several years, will become cage coach when Younger leaves.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this method of thanking the kind friends and neighbors for their many deeds of kindness and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our son, and especially do we wish to thank his nurse, Miss King.

WEST NAVARRO BOYS DEFEATED MALAKOFF FOR PENNANT 46-24

NAVARRO ANNEXED CONSOLATIONS HONORS BY DEFAULT OVER DAWSON

Purdon annexed the 1934 championship of the Mildred invitation tournament Saturday night by defeating Malakoff, 46-24 in a torrid tussle This was the third invitation meet. Navarro won the 1933 honors and Bardwell was the 1932 title-holder.

Navarro won the consolation honors when Dawson forfeited the game, 2-0. Mildred was defeated by Navarro in an exhibition contest, 19-17.

Purdon swamped the Navarro cagers, 44-23, in one of the semi-finals while Malakoff trimmed Dawson, 38 to 30 to enter the final competition.

This was the third invitation tournament sponsored at Mildred under the direction of Tommie C. Younger, coach, who becomes athletic director and coach at Waxahachie high school, Feb. 1.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE — Sun Sports Editor

..Tommie C. Younger, Mildred high coach for the past three seasons, leaves his post this week to assume his duties as athletic director and football coach at Waxahachie high school. The Waxahachie athletic council is erecting a new high school athletic field. Younger has been in Waxahachie several times recently in directing the construction of the plant. He has high hopes of getting the field constructed early enough to have it in tip-top shape by next fall. Younger will devote plenty of time to spring training in an effort to have a strong team in the field when Waxahachie re-enters the strong competition in district 11, one of the toughest districts in the interscholsatic league.

Younger is the second protege of Coach Johnnie Pierce who is coaching in district 11. Ed Price former Texas star and one of the best all-round athletes ever developed at Corsicana, is assistant football coach and head basketball mentor at Hillsboro. Younger was a star at Centenary College after finishing at Corsicana high.

The new Waxahachie mentor is having some trouble in matching games with the remainder of the clubs, as the other teams seek to play the Indians early in the season.

There is a strong possibility that Corsicana and Waco officials will make an effort to play their annual game Thanksgiving Day if arrangements can be made with Temple and Cleburne. Cleburne and Temple would probably as soon met on Thanksgiving Day as Armistice Day and the Waco and Corsicana crews could oppose these other two strong contenders at that time as well as on Turkey day. Record crowds would be in attendance under the proposed new arrangements.

Ennis high school, one of the strong Clacc B teams in the Central Texas campaign annually, may be in district 11 before long. The writer understands that the high school enrollment there now is about 480 students. A school automatically becomes a class A football town when the enrollment reaches 500.

Billy Edwards, Kansas City bad man, who has been wrestling in this section for some time, especially in Dallas, has been suspended by the Texas Boxing and Wrestling czar, Charles H. Poe, for 60 days. He was suspended for alleged repeated fouls and detrimental conduct while on probation. The new czar also suspended several others of the tin-ear fraternity for various infractions of the rules, giving notice that the state commissioner intends to be boss of the rings and mats, and to see that his rules are enforced. The sport would be more attractive if much of the foolishness usually staged at a wrestling match was eliminated.

When Jack Gray of the Texas Longhorn cagers uncorked a scoring spree against the Rice Owls Saturday to turn in 24 points, he assumed undisputed lead in the individual Southwest conference scoring race, bringing his season's total to 67, forging ahead of his teammate, Francis, by 12 points. Gray is a junior this year and was the leading scorer in the conference last year when the Longhorns won the title.

Purdon high cagers are the favorites to cope with the Navarro county University of Texas Interscholastic league basketball tournament Feb. 10-17. The rangy Purdon crew breezed through the Mildred meet last week-end and annexed the championship of the annual Corsicana Y. M. C. A. invitation tournament last month.

Navarro Girls Win Over State Home Six Thursday Afternoon

The Navarro girls' basketball sextette defeated State Home Girls' team 30-20 in a fast two-division court practice game at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon. Miss Knight of Navarro ran wild, scorinf six field goals and six free throws, for 18 points, while Miss Thompson, State Home, was second in the scoring column, with four field goals and two free tosses, for 10 points. Miss O. Shipp, State Home, was next with eight points.

Bryan Cagers Winners Over Mildred Teams

Bryan high school basketball teams nosed out the Mildred teams in a twin bill, the boys winning 25-23 in a hotly contested affair while the Bryan girls were winning 26-10.

Warren led Bryan with 10 points in the boys melee.

Sutton, forward for the Bryan girls, scored 13 points.

SURGE POLITICAL PARTY CHANGES IS BREWING CAPITAL

By NATHAN ROBERTSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A surge of political party changes that may widely alter the national capital's accustomed line-up today gathered momentum in various quarters.

President Roosevelt, at the insistence of James A. Farley, is seeking a new chairman for the democratic national committee. No immediate shift appeared imminent, but Farley has indicated he would retire as party chairman when a successor is found in order to devote more time to his postmaster generalship.

On capitol hill, the president's denunciation of lobbying by national committeemen developed into a wave of political reform spirit that promised quick consideration of corrective legislation.

The senate had before it a measure to prevent members of either national party committee from practicing before government departments. Other bills to carry the reform still further were under consideration.

Senator Steiwer (R-Ore.) said he would seek early action on a bill he has introduced to prevent party conventions from being loaded with political appointees. Another senator was drafting a bill to prevent members of congress from lobbying before government departments.

Legislation may arise also from a reiteration by Senator Norris (R-Neb) that he was opposed to "the chairman of the national committee of any political party being in the senate, the house or the cabinet."

Plans Race for Governor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—In connection with word from Washington that Postmaster General James A. Farley is planning to resign as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, the New York Times says Farley is understood to entertain the ambition of running for governor of New York in 1936.

He has been advised, the paper says, that he would be in a much stronger position for the nomination and in the campaign for the election if he were out of party leaderships. Besides giving up the post of national chairman, he is also planning to resign as New York state chairman.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC LINES AUTHORIZED TO CONSOLIDATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The Southern Pacific Lines in Louisiana and Texas were authorized by the interstate commerce commission today to consolidate their properties into one corporation for ownership management and operation.

The Texas and New Orleans was authorized to issue $59,646,400 of capital stock to exchange for stock of the other system corporations.

The railroads which will be consolidated and their mileage are:

The Texas and New Orleans Railroad company, 479 miles; Louisiana Western Railroad company 208; Morgan's Louisiana and Texas Railroad and Steamship company, 399; The Franklin and Abbeville Railway company, 51; Lake Charles and Northern Railway company, 45; Houston and Shreveport Railway company, 41; the Galveston, Harrisburg, and San Antonio Railway company, 1,345; Houston, and Texas Central Raiway company, 760; the Houston East and West Texas Railway company, 191; the San Antonio Aranasa Pass Railway company 822; Dayton-Goose Creek Railay company, 26; Texas Midland Railroad, 125; and the Gulf and West Texas Raila company which has not yet been built.

NAVARRO LASSIES TURNED IN VICTORY OVER EMHOUSE GIRLS 37-27

One hundred seventy-six points in one basketball game!!!

That is exactly what took place when the undefeated Corsicana Aces ran roughshod over the Rosser Valley Farms five. of Ellis county, 148-28 at the Y. M. C. A.'s free jamboree, before a packed house here Saturday night. The famous Cecil Hobbs-Herschel McClanahan scoring combination was responsible for 103 points.

The evening's entertainment was arranged by Physical Director Dick Jones, and the Y.M.C.A. management, and included in addition to the Ace-Rosser game, a preliminary game between Navarro and Emhouse girls, and a 45-minute fencing exhibition by 14 students of J. B. Petta, Dallas.

Navarro high school's girls defeated Emhouse girls 37-27 in a fast two-division court game. Knight, Navarro forward, led the pack with 17 points, and was follower by Hutson, with 14 tallies. Farmer, of Emhouse, was third in the scoring, when she made 13 points.

Hobbs Second 53 Points.

Cecil Hobbs led the scoring in the Ace-Rosser game, with 26 field goals and one free throw, for 53 points, and was closely pressed by his teammate, Herschel McClanahan who tossed in 24 field goals and two free shots for 50 points. Other leading scorer were Pollan, Aces, 14, Burns, Rosser, 12, and Ferrell, Aces, and Sharman Rosser with 10 each.

The Aces were leading 34-4 at the end of the first quarter, and 53-10 at the half. As the third period closed, the Corsicana team was on top by a 97-24 score, and 148-28 at the end. The locals took the first tip-off, and had scored 6 points before the visitors had a chance to shoot a basket, and this procedure was closely followed for the remainder of the game. Let it be said, however, that despite the fact the Rosser five had little chance for even a mediocre score, from the very start, they played their best and hardest until the final whistle ended the fracas.

Fine Guarding Tactics.

One of the big factors in the Aces' overwhelming score, and the smallest of their oppenents,' was the fine defensive work of their guards, and especially that of Roland Pollard. Pollard seldom missed checking an opponent's shot, and always worked the ball back into Corsicana's territory, where Hobbs and McClanahan usually took charge. Pollard, however, was not the only star guard, Russell Hobbs, who started the game, was also on the job all the time. Substitute guards, Oscar Bird and Gordon Clark, dealt their opponents misery, as is evidenced by the small score Rosser made while those two excellent players were in the game.

Pollan and Ferrell, Ace centers, got nearly all the tip-offs, and otherwise made themselves useful around the place. Ferrell made 10 points and Pollan accounted for 14.

Dosser star Bryan Independent player, substituted at forward and made his quota of points. He made several sensational shots with one arm, for which his is famous in the city major league. Nolen proved his worth in the few minutes he played and made his two points, for which he can always be depended on in a game.

Burns Defensive Star.

Burns, Rosser guard, was the visitors' best defensive player, and broke up many Ace passes. He was also high scorer for his team, with 12 points, while Sharman was second, with 10, and Burton, forward, next with four.

The Aces meet the Waxahachie Rangers here at 7:30 next Saturday night, as the added attraction for the final games in the Y.M.C.A.'s first annual girls' Invitation Basketball tournament.

J. B. Petta, fencing instructor of the Southwestern School of the Theatre, and the Dallas Y. M. C. A. presented 14 of his students in an interesting dueling exhibition, the first ever seen in Corsicana.

His portion of the jamboree was well received by the filled gymnasium, and much interest was manifest over the art of fencing.

Fencing Exhibitions.

Mr. Petta made a few introductory remarks, concerning the demonstration, and his attractively uniformed proteges marched into the gymnasium, saluted and came to attention. The first demonstration was two formal duels by the entire class, which included seven matches in progress simultaneously. Those taking part in these bouts were Miss Ana Gilson and Miss Elizabeth Sanford, of the School of the Theatre, and Pete Clark, Stanley Kerr, Harold Cook, Joe Ross, Lawrence Stafford, Wellington Cornell, John Fuhrhop, W. T. Van Riel, Lloyd Silberberger, Oscar Grunaw, president of the Dallas Y.M.C.A. Fencing club; Munrex Alcorn, and Lloyd Williams.

Williams and Van Riel and Alcorn and Cook were next presented in two duels, and were followed by a match between Miss Gilson and one of the men, in which four other fencers acted as seconds, and declared the touches. Mr. Petta pointed out that this method of fencing is used at the present time in Europe when disputes between two persons are to be settled.

Grunaw and Silberberger, two advanced students, gave an exhibition of "Spada," a Spanish type of fencing, in which heavier foils are used, and the participants are given a wider range to touch their opponents. Misses Gilson and Sanford gave the last event in a fast duel.

Boyce Martin, advertising manager of the Daily Sun, was master of ceremones, and between games introduced the basketball teams captains and coaches of city and county teams that were present. He also displayed the trophies for the girls tournament next week.

All-Star Quint Selected After Mildred Tourney

An All-Star team selected from the large entry in the third annual Mildred invitation tournament has been announced by Brice Bonner, after conferring with coaches, officials and others who witnessed the tournament staged Friday and Saturday at the Mildred gym.

Purdon, winner of the championship, and one of the strongest clubs in Central Texas, dominates the all-star club with three players, while Malakoff and Navarro land the other two berths.

Following is the all-star team as picked by Bonner:

Doolin, Navarro, and Farmer, Purdon, forwards.
Norton, Purdon, center.
McGee. Purdon, and Womack, Malakoff, guards.

Senate Passes Bill to Refund Arkansas Bonds

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The state senate today passed the bill for refunding of Arkansas' $155,000,000 highway debt. The vote was 29 to 5. The emergency clause was adopted by a vote of 30 to 4.

The vote was taken without debate today after three weeks of wrangling over the bill during which numerous amendments were adopted and then the most objectionable to the administration and bondholders were removed.

The house, with its own refunding bill under study by State Comptroller Griffin Smith to determine the revenue requirements under changes adopted in the lower branch, was in session to receive the senate bill which it was expected to give first consideration in the place of its own measure.

The refunding bill is essentially the same as drafted to embody the provisions of an agreement reached by Governor Futrell's special bond refunding committee with representatives of highway bondholders.

Cotton Spinning Industry Takes December Slump

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The cotton spinning industry was reported today by the census bureau to have operated during December at 73.5 per cent of capacity, on a single shift basis, compared with 96.3 per cent in November last year and 87.2 per cent in December a year ago.

Spinning spindles in place December 31 totaled 30,938,340, of which 24,840,870. were active at some time during the month, compared with 30,881,964 and 25,423,-348 for November last year, and 31,442,174 and 23,775,136 for December a year ago.

Active spindle hours for December totaled 5,095,507,829 or an average of 165 hours per spindle in place, compared with 6,796,420,-109 and 220 in November last year, and 6,386,218,252 and 203 in December a year ago.

VISITORS RALLIED LATE IN GAME TO DRUB LOCAL FIVE

HARD-FOUGHT AND ROUGH TUSSLE UNREELED ON JUNIOR COURT

With Mimms, a guard, accounting for nine points and incidentally being the high point man of the evening, the Waco Tigers Saturday night defeated the Corsicana Bengals, 23-14, in a hard-fought and rough game featured by the missing of many shots by both crews.

The passing of the Corsicanans was bad, the McLennan county lads intercepting the ball after the Navarro clan had worked it down to within shooting distance.

Paul Tyson, Waco football grid mentor, had charge of the Waco crew due to the illness of Bill Henderson, cage coach, and assistant football instructor and scout. No substitutions was made by the Wacoans while Coach Jimmie Gardner of Corsicana used nine men in an effort to find a winning combination.

For the first time this season, Corsicana forged into the lead with the looping of a couple of goals by E. Harwell and Herring, but the lead was short-lived and Waco was leading, 5-3, at the end of the first quarter. Mimms accounted for all five points. Waco forged ahead in the second and was leading, 15-8, at the half as McCulloch and Herring scored field shots during the last quarter minute of play in the half.

Corsicana Rallied.

Corsicana came back scrapping savagely at the beginning of the third period and had the Wacoans with their backs to the walls, chalking up five points to be trailing, 15-13. The score at the end of the third quarter was 17-14.

Waco had things her own way, however, in the fourth quarter and the outcome was never in doubt as the game waned.

A return game in Waco is scheduled for Friday night.

WOMEN ARE TAKING ADVANTAGE OF OFFER SEMI-WEEKLY LIGHT

Since the announcement of the special subscription offer made by the Corsicana Semi-Weekly Morning Light a number of women's organizations of churches and societies in the rural sections have entered into the campaign.

The special offer was made Jan. 1, and will last until April 1, the offer being that for every [illegible] yearly subscriptions secured [illegible] the Light by womens' organ[illegible]tions of the community would [illegible] given $25, there being no limit [illegible] the number of subscriptions [illegible] in.

Due to the fact that there is much more money now in the country than there has been for several years, there is every reason to predict that the organizations participating in this special campaign will have no trouble securing subscriptions to the Light.

Limestone Negro Cotton Farmers Signing Contracts

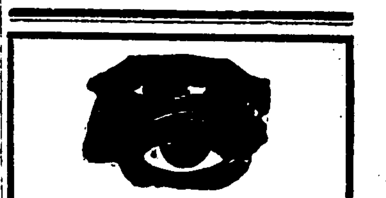

MEXIA, Jan. 20.—(Spl.)—Negro cotton farmers are signing up their cotton reduction contracts 100 per cent, according to J. M. Merriwether, negro county agent, who says his group was so well pleased with the last year plow-up campaign receipts they are ready to do anything the government suggests.

Negro vocational agriculture teachers are assisting Merrifethers' campaign among negro farmers. The colored group is working in co-operation with the county-wide drive.

SUCCESS.

Men who have achieved unmistakable success are sometimes tempted to pass on to their successors their formula. Yet it is significant that out of the concensus of such confessions there can be contrived no sure definition of success nor a certain fashion of reaching it. It is as though some ingredient were denied declaration, for which reason success is no commoner than of yore and no easier of attainment.

The essential element which is often overlooked in the analysis of a successful career is the simple one of friendship. Men of destiny rarely rise unaided. Other hands and shoulders have helped their progress, have carried part of their burden and have opened their trail. Great men, indeed, have not only the talent and strength to achieve but also the inestimable gift of making and keeping friends whose loyal offices contribute opportunities and encouragement to the making of a successful man.

Friendship can give much and be itself no poorer, while the object of its services turns it to profitable account. All men need it, for no great man walks entirely alone and no little man can spare its kindly aid. When success, great or small, crowns at last our efforts and ambitions, we will do well not to forget how much of other men's labors and love is woven into it.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

One force for the advancement of knowledge and extension of education that is often overlooked by the rank and file is the scholarship. This is easily explained by the fact that few realize that in recent years the scholarship has become an institution of tremendous proportions.

More than 50,000 scholarships, worth more than $10,000,000, are awarded annually in the United States. They are financed primarily by state grants, private endowments, organization endowment and outright gift and are worth from $50 to $1500 each. With but a few exceptions they are awarded without restriction on the studies to be pursued, and the great bulk of them ask nothing from the recipient in return. Most of them are offered to undergraduates, though the number of fellowships and similar grants for post-graduate work runs well into the hundreds.

In many instances scholarships alone make it possible for serious students to continue their studies and research work. In others they encourage scholastic and scientific endeavor. It is through these mediums that the scholarship endows the country with a fellowship of learned men and women and new addition to the fund of human knowledge.

Judging from some of the high taxes on liquor being proposed, the bootleggers' lobby must be getting in its work.

A great man's downfall begins when he decides that people who are against him are against Heaven.

If he says he is willing to swing a pick for a living make sure he doesn't mean a toothpick.

It is fair enough. For every precedent Mr. Roosevelt breaks he makes a new one.

LINES TO A FRIEND.

Peace is his who sleeps tonight
Under roses red and white.
Wisdom now is his who sought
God in every act and thought,
But behind his friendly door
We shall sit and talk no more.

High above the crowds that press
Seeking fortune and success
And the traffic's roar and hum
To his room he'd bid me come.
There as one who loved to dream
He would talk of sky and stream.

Open wide his heart would swing
Unto every living thing.
Great his faith that God must be
Close to all that mortals see,
Source of everything that's good,
If we only understood.

He who knew no doubt or fear
While he lived and labored here
Now has gained that wisdom which
Far excelleth treasures rich;
Found that great abundant love
Which he was so certain of.

WAR IS WHAT WE DON'T NEED

The weakness to glorify everything associated with war is not peculiar to children. Countless adults have the same blind spot on their mental retinas. A common complaint against school histories is that they glorify war and warriors and belittle before the adolescent mind the importance of incidence, institutions and individuals of even greater historical importance. History too often treats war subjectively when it should be treated objectively.

Men all over the world, some of whom saw the horrors and futility of the World war, are numbling with childlike ignorance that we need another war to settle world problems. "The next war" is discussed as a certainty in offices, grocery stores, club lounges and smoking cars or wherever men idle the time away with loose-thinking and muddle-headed conversation. Do they not know that the home-spun citizen who flounders about among big subjects is as much an enemy to peace as imperialistic governments?

Any one with the capacity for orderly thinking knows that instead of settling the problems of the world another war would very nearly blast the civilized world out of existence. The last war very nearly did that.

The mind which looks to another war as the only way out of our present economic troubles is a mind numbed by years of unemployment, unprofitable business, losing politics and general despair. As long as the world is in this state of mind there will be a real threat of war.

THE GEORGIA PLAN.

On the theory that in real punishment lies the only effective remedy for reckless driving, whether by drunk or sober drivers, Georgia is setting an example in dealing with this class of offenders that well might be followed by other states.

It has been demonstrated that fines alone will not prevent recklessness in the operation of automobiles. Even an occasional jail sentence has been tried, but with results hardly any better. Sitting in jail a few days is no punishment for many persons.

These methods of seeking to curb reckless driving having proved ineffective, more promising means were sought. These were found in rock-pile and chain-gang sentences. Such sentences are being meted out to the worst offenders. No leniency will be shown second offenders of the drunken driving law nor to reckless driving whether drunk or sober, the judges of the state's criminal courts have announced.

The punishment doesn't end with completion of a sentence to a chain gang. The offender, in addition, loses his driver's license for a year.

A chain gang sentence in Georgia really means something. It means back-breaking work in making little rocks out of big ones and in applying pick and shovel on highway work. The usual sentences for reckless driving run from four to six months. This means that an offender who serves such a sentence has undergone some real punishment.

The Georgia plan, may seem to be too severe. Those who take this view, however fail to give proper thought to the large number of persons—adults and children—who annually lose their lives because of the recklessness of automobile drivers. These speed maniacs must be eliminated. Less severe methods having failed, the time has arrived for more severe ones to be tried.

Georgia's experiment should be of interest to every state in the union.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND

The constant bombardment with statistics to which the people of the United States are subjected makes them feel at times like closing their eyes and plugging their ears to more figures, but they cannot well ignore such data as come out of this year's meeting of the National Safety Council.

When they read that in all probability 100,000 persons will meet accidental death in 1934, the possibility that many of them will be among the victims should arouse interest in the forecast. A hundred thousand lives means something.

Automobiles will cause a large percentage of the fatalities of 1934 but the auto death list will not exceed that of accidents in the home. The latter account for about 25,000 deaths each year, the causes being suffocation, burns, falls and poisons. Home accidents are greater than industrial and occupational accidents combined. Railroads kill and injure 8500 trespassers in a year.

Analysis of the statistics demonstrates that we are a grossly careless people, individual indifference to personal safety and safety to others more than offsetting the reduction made in accidental deaths by organized effort to lower the hazards incurred in industry and trade. On the face of the figures the nation must turn its safety-first and accident-prevention guns upon the home and continue to keep them trained upon pedestrians and motorists.

THE DOUR SCHOOL

What makes a young man commit suicide?

Two to one it's the advice of an older man. And the same holds good for young women and their sisters.

When young people sit indoors and mull over the dead-and-gone theories of older folk who cared to live only to write about their ideas instead of trying them out in practice, they begin to brood on the thoughts that lead to self-destruction.

The older women tell the younger ones, "marry money," and the older men advise idealistic and hopeful youth, this advice takes the meaning out of life. It sets them brooding.

Young people who indulge in the harmless pleasure of life do not snuff out their own lives. They find life sweet and have no time to think of death. Those who commit suicide first sit indoors at night and moon over a lot of meaningless junk written by old philosophers for old philosophers. Dipping deep into the depressing and hopeless philosophy of old age they are led to believe life utterly futile.

Perhaps life, for most people, is futile and filled with more sorrow than happiness, but what of it? Mooning over the matter and ending up stretched out on a bed with all the chinks of he room stuffed up and the gas turned on isn't going to change or help matters.

In sterner and more primitive times the oldsters were told to go jump in the river when they had passed their period of usefulness. Modernity cannot quite do that, but it can stop its ears to the dour advice of those who have abandoned all hope.

AN ALERT INDUSTRY

Automobile shows, new 1934 models and newspaper advertisements heralding both are focusing public attention on motordom again. This is the motor industry's own month.

Production of automobiles and motor trucks was up 43 per cent last year but still far below that of the peak when there was a passenger car for every four-and-one-half persons and manufacturers scoffed at the idea of a saturation point.

The motor industry remains our most important industry. It is the largest purchaser of gasoline, rubber, alloy steel and malleable iron, mohair, upholstery leather, lubricating oil, plate glass, nickel and lead. It used 2,621,000 railroad cars to carry its freight last year, and furnished a market for 185,000,000 pounds of cotton fabric which went into tire manufacture. With the motor industry consuming 85 per cent of all gasoline and 80 per cent of all rubber and 59 per cent of all lubricating oils there would be no rubber and petroleum industries of consequence if there were no motor industry.

Partial recovery in the automobile and truck industry last year probably was second only to the NRA, CCC and CWA in creating jobs. If it were possible to bring production up to capacity the back of the depression would be broken, so far-reaching are the benefits of this industry.

REVIVING FOREIGN TRADE

All the signs indicate that our badly depressed foreign trade is slowly reviving. There have been encouraging gains and the prospects for this year are bright. Numerous reasons for this improvement have been ascribed.

The depreciation of the dollar undoubtedly has been a factor, but since imports have risen in value as well as exports—although in theory they should have decreased as a result of the dollar's devaluation—it is evident that the monetary situation could not have been the sole factor.

In view of improving conditions generally throughout the world there are grounds for assuming that the increase in the foreign trade of the United States is partly due to world recovery. But there are still other explanations.

Prohibition repeal gave Washington something to deal with for more foreign trade. The nations desiring to sell wines, whiskey, beer and other liquors to us have offered a share of this business if they buy a corresponding amount of American goods. The farmers and several key industries are the gainers directly and the country as a whole has benefited indirectly.

With world trade on the upturn isn't this a propitious time for a world agreement for the lowering and abolition of trade barriers? Why do the nations continue to fight trade instead of attracting it with a little sugar?

A JAPANESE PUPPET

The difference between Caesar and Pu-yi is that Caesar thrice refused the kingly crown, while Pu-Yi refused it only twice and then accepted it. He intended to accept from the beginning, but according to an old Chinese custom, the Manchu emperors are expected to pretend reluctance to accept the honor.

Pu-Yi is now the head of that part of Manchuria under Japanese domination. A noncommittal title has been selected for him which means either president or sovereign, but the title does not matter. He will be like the old Merovingian rois faineants, the Kings who did nothing while the mayor of the palace ruled in their names. He is a Japanese puppet who will be maintained in comfort in his "palace" while Japanese agents do the ruling.

LEE SIMMONS SAYS PRESENT SYSTEM IS BEST YET DEVISED

POINTS OUT THAT ESCAPES HAVE BEEN REDUCED; NO CHANGES IN PROSPECT

AUSTIN, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas prison system, said here today that while he regretted the escape of Raymond Hamilton and other prisoners last Tuesday from the Eastham state prison farm, the present system of guarding prisoners was the best that had been devised.

Hamilton and four others escaped in an armed delivery, purportedly engineered by Clyde Barrow, widely hunted Southwest bad man.

There has been some criticism of the prison system management for keeping Hamilton and other dangerous convicts on the prison farms.

"eW have to keep them somewhere," Simmons said. "That delivery could as well have occurred at the walls at Huntsville as at the prison farm. The dangerous convicts should be made to work the same as a check forger and bootlegger.

"We have a lot of criminals that we regard as more dangerous than Raymond Hamilton was. It just happened that he was a friend of Barrow's and Barrow wanted him out bad enough to try his scheme."

Simmons pointed out that most of the major penitentiary deliveries had been made from central prisons.

Simmons cited prison records to show the effectiveness of the present system. For the two years preceding his appointment as prison system manager, there were approximately 1,600 escapes, he said, and this number has been reduced to approximately 300 the past two years.

He indicated there would be no change in policy in regard to distribution of prisons among the farms.

Free Clinic For Examination Of Crippled Children

A free clinic for examination and classification of crippled children will be held at Baylor University Hospital in Dallas on January 23, according to information received recently from Brice L. Twitty, first vice-president of the Dallas district of the Texas Society for Crippled Children.

The clinic will be held jointly by the society and the crippled children's division of the state department of education. It is estimated that there are some 50,000 children in Texas suffering from some deformity and 80 per cent of them can be made whole if given an opportunity.

Any crippled child in Corsicana or the surrounding territory is privileged to attend the clinic according to the announcement. Transportation to and from bus and train stations in Dallas will be supplied by the Junior League and the Rotary auxiliary; it is also believed that free transportation may be secured from busses and railways if application is made.

Mayor Charles L. Turner of Dallas is chairman of the Dallas district, and John W. Carpenter of Dallas is the chairman of the clinic to be held on January 23, next Tuesday.

FIRST MEETING OF SUPERINTENDENTS, PRINCIPALS CLUB

The first meeting of the superintendents and Principals club; composed of superintendents and principals of Navarro county schools, will be held at Emhouse Tuesday night, January 23 at 7:30, it was announced Friday by E. C. Butler, superintendent of the Emhouse schools.

Mr. Butler stated that the school building would be opened at 6:45 for inspection and every member of the club was invited to inspect the building and work that is being done there.

The following is the program as announced by Mr. Butler:

Sing songs by the club.

Invocation by W. V. Harrison, superintendent of Frost schools.

Welcome address by R. E. Huling, chairman of Emhouse school board.

Response by H. G. Garland, superintendent of Mildred school.

Music by Rhythm band and glee club of Emhouse school.

Address 'Standardization of Schools" by Dr. Elizabeth Smellage, deputy state superintendent.

Round table discussion of standardization of schools led by G. H. Brown, county superintendent.

Benediction by R. E. Huling.

NEW TEST FOR OIL S. E. NAVARRO CO. ANNOUNCED FRIDAY

The Syam Oil Company, with headquarters in Kerens, has let the drilling contract for a deep test for oil to the Owenby Drilling Co., Mexia, it was announced by R. H. Mays, Kerens, today. The contract calls for actual drilling to be under way not later than Feb. 1.

The test will be located in the middle of the N. H. Carroll survey in southeast Navarro county and is the third to be made by the company. The first two holes were abandoned and information secured from the logs of the previous attempts cause the operators to have considerable faith in this last location.

There's Plenty of Money In The Country Now

For the past several years business was stagnated on account of there being no money in circulation. Times have changed, and there is much money now in the rural sections waiting to be spent with the alert merchant or business man who goes after it by a persistent and judicious advertising campaign.

Remember —

The Corsicana Semi-Weekly Morning Light

Which covers the rural trade territory completely, is at your service twice a week to take your store news direct and immediately to the buying public. More business for the new year will depend upon more advertising in your rural trade territory in the Corsicana Semi-Weekly Morning Light.

FINAL MID-TERM EXAMINATIONS OPEN LOCAL HI SCHOOLS

Final examinations started Monday morning in the junior and senior high schools, and will continue one period each half day, until five examinations have been completed Wednesday noon, it was announced today. Elementary schools' examinations will begin Wednesday and continue through the last of the week until completed.

The schedule for exams in the junior high schools is as follows:

Monday morning, first period; Monday afternoon, second period; Tuesday morning, third period; Tuesday afternoon, fourth period; and Wednesday morning, fifth period.

Report cards will be given students of the two high schools Friday afternoon at one o'clock. Schedules for the Spring term will be made out Saturday, Jan. 27, and Monday, Jan. 29, and classes will begin with a regular schedule being run on Tuesday, Jan. 30.

The junior high school's commencement exercise will be at 10 o'clock Friday morning, in the school auditorium, and the senior high school exercises will be Friday night, at 8 o'clock. Programs for both exercises are being worked out by school officials, and will be announced within the next few days.

CONGRESS

in prospect before it reaches the senate.

Chairman Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee announced after a talk with President Roosevelt that the St. Lawrence waterways treaty would be laid aside in the senate for emergency measures, including the monetary bill. He predicted final action on the treaty at this session, however.

Backing up his right for the treaty, Mr. Roosevelt arranged to transmit to the senate a supplemental report from his interdepartmental committee. This is expected to deal principally with railroads and their relation to the proposed Great Lakes-Lawrence seaway.

International Problems.

While national affairs engaged both congressional branches, the farm mortgage bond guarantee bill being before the senate, it was President Roosevelt's day for international problems.

A meeting with him of representatives from all Latin American countries was arranged to go into Cuban recognition questions with brighter chances for the new government there taking its place among the nations.

The president also called in German Ambassador Luther to "ask definitely that American creditors be given the same treatment as the creditors of other nations" by the Hitler regime.

Reporting the navy bill, the appropriations committee told the house it could see an American navy near Lindon treaty limits, once the present building program is completed. To make it the more powerful, the committee voted down the budget bureau and authorized $1,200,000 to start three new 6-inch gun cruisers.

Home Loan Bonds.

Multiple developments around the capital touched on such diversified matters as guaranteeing the home loan as well as farm mortgage bonds, and predicting that action toward a milk marketing agreement for the New York area would be taken tomorrow.

John F. Fahey, chairman of the Home Owners Loan corporation planned to draft recommendations this week on guaranteeing the principal of home loan bonds, which the president expects to read to congress.

With Mr. Roosevelt standing pat on his budget, he is preparing in a message to congress this week to ask funds to continue the civil works administration only until May. The cost will involve about $350,000,000 of the $1,166,000,000 which will be asked to meet budget requirements for this year.

Coincident with the navy supply bill being reported out, attempts were under way in the house for even bigger and better building than there's been.

fragments of clothing aided in the identification.

A tenant farmer living near the barn found it afire at 3:30 a. m. last Saturday when he arose to milk a herd of cows. Because of the intense heat, the tenant was unable to approach the blazing structure for nearly an hour, but when he was able to look in, he saw the body.

Examination revealed that the youth's skull had been crushed. Justice of the Peace G. W. Dobson, who conducted an inquest, returned a verdict of "murder by a party or parties unknown."

The father informed officers that his son had left home last Friday night with the intention of visiting his sweetheart, who lives north of Whitney. Teh youth was in a small sedan. About midnight he was seen in the car by J. D. Allen, who also lives in Bethel community.

Allen said after he passed young Gullett's car, he saw it stop and turn around, going back a short distance on the highway to another car parked beside the road. Allen had not been able to see anyone in the parked car when he passed it.

Young Gullett's car was found in a garage at Peoria, a town near Whitney.

Barn On G. C. Kent Farm Is Destroyed Late Saturday Night

Fire of untetermined origin destroyed a 36x24 foot barn on a G. C. Kent farm in the Eureka community late Saturday night with a loss estimated at $600. No insurance was carried.

The barn contained 100 bales of hay, 200 bushels of corn and about two tons of maize.

This is the third fire on the Kent properties during the past month.

A house was burned in the Effort community about Christmas and an oil derrick was destroyed on the Kent-Fleming lease

Father Is Given Life Sentence In Slaying of Son

GRAHAM, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A jury today sentenced Charles Richardson to life imprisonment for the slaying of his son, Elga, 20, at the family home at Olney two weeks ago.

The jury cast three ballots last night and three today. One vote was taken on Richardson's guilt and five on the penalty.

Richardson took the verdict calmly, pausing from perusal of a newspaper as the jury filed in.

The defense prepared a motion for a new trial.

The case went to the jury last night but, after deliberating two hours, the jurors retired without having announced an agreement.

In closing arguments, the state asked that Richardson, an oil man, be given the death penalty. The defense asked for acquittal on the grounds of insanity.

The shooting occurred at the Richardson's home in Olney while Elga was home for the holidays. Elga was a student of North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

JAPANESE

the long suppressed liberal anti-militarist movement again to lift its head.

Further, they believed, it may mark the conclusion of a turbulent period likely to be known in Japanese history as the Araki era, coinciding with Japan's conquest of Manchuria, withdrawal from the League of Nations, two of the largest peace time budgets in the Empire's history, recurrent periods of Japanese-American tension and ever-darkening Russo-Japanese war clouds.

Seized Good Opportunity.

Some writers, while not doubting the genuineness of Araki's illness from pneumonia, reported to have been the cause of his resigning, believed that the war minister—forseeing a decline in the army cliques' fortunes—seized this plausible opportunity to retire with his prestige unimpaired.

Other authorities pointed out that General Hayashi, while not likely to indulge in speeches which his predecessor periodically excited world chancellories, nevertheless is a grim soldier and a man of action.

When the Manchurian conflict broke out Sept. 8, 1931, General Hayashi was commanding a garrison in Korea. He dispatched his brigade from Korea to Manchuria on his own responsibility to assist in expelling the Chang Ssiao-Liang regime.

Dominated Imperial Policy.

During his incumbency in the war office, Araki was the spokesman and leader of the more nationalistic elements in the army. He attempted, usually successfully, to dominate all phases of imperial policy in foreign affairs, finance and agrarian problems.

Hayashi, although an equally staunch nationalist and patrict, is credited with the belief that the army should remain aloof from politics.

Hayashi was graduated from the military academy two classes ahead of Araki. Therefore, he is older and more conservative—standing between the Araki-ites and the more liberl army elements of which General Issei Ugaki, governor general of Korea, is considered the leader.

WYNEKOOP

was to the effect that Dr. Wynekoop was well enough to continue.

Dr. Frank Chauvet, defense physician, had said Dr. Wynekoop was well enough to lie in court in a semi-reclining position. The prosecution announced it would object to that.

Dr. Arthur Byfield, appointed by the Court, said he believed continuing of the trial would endanger the defendant's life.

Burdine H. Gardner, father of the slain girl, as he awaited the outcome of the conferences with physicians and attorneys said he would like to have the trial stopped only if Dr. Wynekoop were so ill that she would have to be brought into court on a stretcher.

"That might influence the jurors," Gardner said. He said he would be disappointed if a mistrial were declared, but shook his head and added: "It's a pretty tough situation. I want to see justice served, however."

The order to bring Dr. Alice to court was held up and Dr. John C. Maher, who examined the defendant with Dr. Earle Grey last Saturday was called to the witness stand.

He said Dr. Alice was suffering from heart disease, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, and that he found a condition of moisture in her left lung.

Dr. Maher added that he agreed with Dr. Byfield's conclusion that further subjection of her to the ordeal of trial would be "a very definite danger to her life."

Meantime, Defense Attorney W. W. Smith had presented a motion asking that a juror be withdrawn and a mistrial declared. Such action would leave Dr. Wynekoop in custody pending a new trial.

INSULL

Rhodes for refuge from the United States authorities who seek to return him to Chicago for embezzlement trial.

Insull, it was said, would like to go to the Aegean Island in the event his efforts to remain in Greece failed.

A strong probability prevails that the supreme state council has decided to reject Insull's appeal from a government ruling that he must leave this country Jan. 31.

No decision, however, is effective or even existant legally until the council makes a public announcement.

Insull appealed from a decision of the ministry of the interior against extending his police residence permit beyond the end of the month.

It previously had granted him an extension from December 31.

Greek courts twice have blocked efforts of the United States government to extradite insull to America to face charges based on the collapse of his interests.

Events took a new turn for the 74-year-old fugitive, however, when the battle developed over his residence permit.

CLAIM OF BOTH SEAT ASPIRANTS IN LOUISIANA REJECTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Claims of both Mrs. Boliva E. Kemp and J. Y. Sanders, Jr., to the house seat for the Sixth Louisiana congressional district were rejected today by house elections committee number 3.

Reporting to the house on the investigation of the contest, Chairman Kerr (D., N. C.) said that the committee had found both the election of Mrs. Kemp and that of Sanders were illegal under the Louisiana law.

The report said Mrs. Kemp "in no way participated in the method by wrich she was chosen a candidate but that she always insisted that the governor call an election according to the law.

"The qualified voters of every state in the nation," the committee said, "are entitled to a full, free, and unrestrained opportunity to select a candidate for every public office; to deny them this privilege is destructive of government by the people."

The committee held the Sanders election illegal because no machinery for holding it was provided by the Louisiana election law.

'We are not surprised, however," the report said, "at the attempt of citizens of the Sixth congressional district of Louisiana to hold an election, in view of the action of public officials of the state of Louisiana whose duty it was to carry out the plain mandate of the constitution of the United Stataes, as well as the laws of the state of Louisiana."

including replacements of destroyers and submarines.

Override Budget Director.

The committee voted to override Director Lewis W. Douglas and authorize $1,200,000 to start three new 6-inch gun cruisers in the next fiscal year.

Naval officials told the committee in detail what construction had been undertaken recently by other nations and presented many tables showing comparative strength of treaty nations.

One showed that whereas the treaty ratio between Great Britain, Japan and the United States was supposed to be 5-5-3, present construction plans, even including the recovery act allocation of $238,000,000 for building and the completion of 54 ships now arranged for, would put the United States at 10, Great Britain at 10.05 and Japan at 8.

One-Third Pay Restored.

Restoration of one-third of the pay bosted the estimates for the supplies and accounts bureau by $10,500,000 while restoration of automatic promotions allowed under the economy provisins of the idependent offices' bill will cost $2,972,000.

While $238,000,000 was allotted under the recovery act for new construction, the bill carried $38,619,000 for work on new vessels, including new aircraft carriers, and four cruisers.

The committee provided funds for the reopening of the Great Lakes naval training station at Chicago, allowing $227,503 for this purpose, an increase of $188,725 over the budget.

FRENCH CRISIS

pawnshop, with a heavy loss to the public, was announced by Premier Camille Chautemps.

One official was discharged, two were suspended and the director of the important service of police attached to courts announced his retirefent on the grounds of age.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A Million workers crying out for immediate relief from economic stress presented a serious problem to the government today.

Civil servants, claiming they have been pinched beyond endurance by recent pay cuts, launched a campaign of manifestations in all administrative centers.

Eight hundred thousand strong, these government workers rallied to their cause sympathizers in many fields who joined naiton-wide demonstrations.

Today 200,000 miners in the great coal fields of both the north and south of France persisted in their demands for "bread and more work." Some now average only two days a week.

In Central France, 2,000 farmers who yesterday denounced the government's wheat policy and demanded suppression of importation of all foreign wheat, lined up to press their pleas officially.

The civil servents' campaign against recent salary slashes found a head in the Paris region in a scheduled mass meeting at city hall.

"We'll show the government and parliament," a leader said, "that we are tired of being scapegoats for the depression."

New Texas Coach Be Speaker Lions Club Meet Tuesday

Jack Chevigny, newly elected head football coach at the University of Texas, will be the principal speaker at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Lions club at the Navarro hotel at 12:15, it was announced this afternoon by Dr. A. W. Rogers, who is on the program committee.

It is reported elsewhere in today's paper that George H. Black would deliver the address, but Dr. Rogers announced Monday afternoon that Mr. Black would not be present.

Rush Started at Office of County Tax Collector

A brisk business was noted at the tax collector's office and registration booth in the lobby of the courthouse Monday in the first rush in the payments of tares and motor vehicles registrations of the season. Scores were on hand practically all of the morning at both places.

There had been 2,200 automobiles and 285 trucks registered at noon Monday.

There had been 3,617 poll tax receipts issued.

Bates, Bailey Still Refusing To Take Food

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Appetizing roast meats and succulent vegetables apparently had failed today to tempt Harvey Bailey and Alfred Bates, convict desperadoes, to end a hunger strike against solitary confinement in the federal penitentiary.

But the convict kidnapers were not wasting away. The prison physician and two guards, with a daily gallon of milk and a rubber hose, saw to that while two convict witnesses stood by to be able to testify the forcible feeding was not accompanied by abuse.

The men who gurgled profanely as they were forced to take the unaccustomed beverage by the nostril route were sentenced to life for the $200,000 ransom adbucting of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire. They are believed to know where $100,000 of the ransom money is hidden. Federal officials are more than curious about that.

George (Machine Gun) Kelly, also sentenced to life for the Urschel kidnaping and in a solitary cell here, has become a daily reader of the Bible. Prison officials say he has expressed a desire to become an evangelist within the prison. Kelly is eating.

BREMER

17, when he left his eight-year-old daughter, Betty, at the exclusive Summit school for girls.

A suspicion that Bremer might be dead, close friends of the family said, led to their determination to turn over no money for his freedom until they received a message signed by him.

Miss Louise Bremer, sister of the missing banker, voiced sentiments of the family when she said "Money doesn't mean anything" and added the ransom would be quickly paid in return for her brothers' freedom.

Reports that word had been received either Saturday or Sunday from the abductors for payment or arrangements to pay the ransom, were emphatically denied by the family. Police Chief Thomas Dahill in a terse statement Saturday said that "Bremer is o. k. There is nothing to worry about until after Sunday or Monday."

Lack of communicaion from the gang, only made more vivid the memory of Bremer's blood-stained automobile, found shortly after his disappearance about a mile from where the abductors said it would be in an outlying residential district.

The missing man's shaky scrawl on the only note so far received, left on the office doorstep of Walter Magee, wealthy contractor and friend of the banker, and which contained a threat of death for Bremer, coupled with a mysterious missive sent W. C. Robertson, Minneapolis postmaster, Saturday, quickened anxiety for the son of Dolph Bremer, principal owner of the Jacob Schmidt brewery and personal friend of President Roosevelt.

Push Sankey Hunt.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—In its search for the abductors of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul, the federal government today intensified its long hunt for Verne Sankey, under indictment in Denver for the kidnaping of Charles Boettcher II.

"Use your judgment," cryptically returned J. Edgar Hoover of the justice department when asked by reporters whether the orders were in direct connection with the Bremer case. Sankey also is wanted for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of Haskell Bohn of St. Paul.

He is 42, a naturalized Canadian, and has been mentioned at various stimes by law officers working on the Lindbergh kidnaping. County Attorney M. F. Kinkead of St. Paul recently said that the government wanted him in connection with that case, but justice officials refused comment.

gangdom. Most widely known to newspaper readers of the 24 were Al Capone, already in a federal prison for income tax evasion; Murray Humphreys, heir apparent to the Capone throne, at that time under conviction for carrying concealed weapons; Aaron Sapiro, New York and Chicago attorney, organizer in the co-operative Maketing Union in the United States and one time counsel in Europe for the Chicago Laundry Owners' association; Alderman Oscar E. Nelson, in Europe at the time; and Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, University of Chicago economics lecturer and federal labor arbiter who as head of the Master Cleaners and Dyers Institute of Chicago tried to eliminate the gangster from the industry.

Nelson, Sapiro, Squires and others named expressed amazement first at in the indictments and were quick with statements that they would prove their innocence.

Efforts were launched by Courtney to have Capone brought here for trial but he was unsuccessful. So with Humpheys, who fled, Capone is a defendant in Absentia.

Here are the others on trial today:

Morris Kaplan, attorney for several trade organizations; Al Boris, secretary and business agent for the Retail Cleaners' Union; James P. Gorman, president of the Retail Cleaners' and dyers' Institute under Dr. Squires; Joseph Bush Iwaniec, president of the Laundry and Dye House Drivers' Union;

George Bendell, secretary and treasurer of the same union; George Knott, vice president of the union: Robert Rado, business agent of the union; Charles Goldstein, another business agent for the union;

Walter Crowley, president of the City Dye Works, a private concern; T. Henry Klein, pesident of the Chicago Laundry Owners' association; A. L. Canfield, president of the Canfield Beverage company;

Jerry Donovan, head of the Beverage Drivers' union; Jean Franks, business agent for the Retail Cleaners and Dyers Union; Ben Abrams, business agent for the Inside Dye House Workers uniin, and Michael Rose, field secretary for the Cook County Hand Laundry association.

BELIEVE WESTBROOK BE GIVEN POSITION NATIONAL CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The probability that Lawrence Westbrook may be relieved as Texas relief director and brought to Washington to take a post in the relief administration headquarters was seen today in usually well informed congressional quarters.

Members of the Texas delegation said they understood such a plan was being worked out by the administration.

Westbrook, summoned here by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, conferred with the latter today. Neither Hopkins nor the Texan, however, would disclose the purpose of the conference, Westbrook saying he had not been here "long enough to find out."

Westbrook has been under fire from some quarters in Texas for months.

Hopkins, however, has praised the Texan in the past on several occasions, and there has been nothing to indicate a change of attitude on his part.

Observers speculated that a transfer of Westbrook to Washington might satisfy his critics, since the way would be left open for selection of a successor in Texas.

They pointed out, too that Hopkins might take the step with a view of harmonizing the Texas situation and at the same time availing himself of Westbrook's services here.

Briefly discussing the administration's recent move to cut down civil works activities, Westbrook said it would "hurt bad" in Texas.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief director, conferred at length today with Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, but, the purpose of the talk could not be learned.

Hopkins said Westbrook had been summoned to come here, but declined to say why. Westbrook, asked why he was directed to come here, replied:

"I have not been here long enough to find out myself."

Hopkins indicated he might have something to say later on the matter.

Westbrook had been under criticism from some sources in Texas.

AMERICANS ORDERED KEPT IN JAIL TODAY AS CASE WORKED ON

MADRID, Jan. 22.—(AP)— Four Americans under arrest at Palma, Mallorca, were ordered to remain in jail today while the United States embassy exerted its utmost efforts to settle their case.

Ambassador Claude Bower conferred with both Spanish government and judicial officials in an effort to effect the release of the prisoners pending negotiations for clemency.

It was considered practically certain in government circles that a pardon would be forthcoming within a day or so.

The Americans are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood, West Springfield, Mass.; Roger F. Mead, New York, and Edmund A. Blodgett, Stamford, Conn., who were sentensed to six months in jail as the result of an altercation last year with a civil guard at Palma.

Authorities there jailed them yesterday when it was rumored they planned to escape, but today they were released temporarily then returned to custody.

Governor Juan Mament of Palma said they must stay there until their case has been disposed of.

No Other Course.

"We received the official notification of a verdict," said the governor, "and in the absence of any clemency instruction there is nothing else for us to do except imprison them because the supreme court sentence was six months and a day."

A petition for their pardon has been presented to the supreme court.

Ambassador Bowers talked to cabinet ministers, urging the necessity of settling the matter as soon as possible becaue, he said, public interest had been aroused.

The Spanish cabinet itself is expected to take up the matter at a meeting tomorrow.

Spanish business men were considerably worried over the fact that the Americans had been sent to jail because they believed the action might affect present negotiations toward the increase of the Spanish wine quota in the United States and other commercial matters.

History of Case.

Five Americans became the center of an international controversy last summer at a hotel in Palma, Mallorca.

The controversy itself was a minor affair, judged by American law, in that it was a scuffle with a policeman. The policeman in this case, however, happened to be a civil guard, a member of the military force of Spain.

Under Spanish law, one who trifles with a member of the military force of Spain has insulted the military authority and becomes liable to a jail sentence.

COURTHOUSE NEWS.

District Court.

The grand jury was still in session Friday morning, but was expected to return a number of indictments and recess for several days sometime during the day.

The case styled J. E. Davant vs. Beard and Hammon Oil company was transferred to a Fort Worth district court on a plea of previlege.

Three boys under 17 years of age were named as incorrigibles in complaints filed in the district court Friday by county officers.

Tammany Boss of Brooklyn Is Dead Of Heart Attack

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 22.—(AP)—John H. McCooey, boss of Brooklyn politics, is dead.

He was the leader for almost a quarter of a century of the democratic party in Brooklyn. He died yesterday at 69 from heart disease.

Throughout his reign as democratic boss; McCooey wash a staunch supporter of Tammany Hall and his death is seen by political observers as the end of Tammany's domination of the democratic party in New York city.

It was regarded as almost certain that he would be succeeded by a leader who is satisfactory to supporters of President Roosevelt and who will run the Brooklyn organization as a part of the democratic state organization and not as an auxiliry to Tmmany.

MONETARY

etary bill, which is awaiting senate action after house passage Saturday by an overwhelming majority.

Young Is Called.

Owen D. Young, industrialist, was called to testify at the afternoon session of the banking committee.

Warren replied to questions about authorship of the bill from a chair next to Chairman Fletcher at the head of the long committee table. On either side of the table were former-secretaries of the teasury—Senators McAdoo (D. Calif) and Glass (D-Va.)

"I did not draw it," Warren told his questioners, "but I saw it before it was presented."

"It was prepared in the treasury department and is not strikingly different from the form in which I first saw it."

Warren added that the bill "agrees with my views," and told of a conference about it at the treasury after it was drafted in which he, Secretary Morgenthau, Professor James H. Rogers, another administration monetary advisor, and treasury experts gave their views.

With this questioning out of the way, Warren began presenting figures to show the results of the administration's gold buying program of recent months, of which he has been credited with being the originator.

Warren told the committee that home owners, farmers and debtors would realize "the greatest benefit" from the administration's monetary program.

Senator Walcott (R-Conn) asked if "we might be driven into a period of extreme inflation" should the proposed $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund fail.

Would Be Historic Incident.

Warren replied that every extreme inflation in the past had been preceded by government bankruptcy, violent revolution or a long period of war and that if this country drifted into that condition "it would be an unusual historical incident."

Walcott said he did not see how the fund could succeed.

Senator McAdoo (D-Calif.) said there was a great deal of misapprehension about the bill and asked Warren to state its "specific purpose" and tell what benefits would result from its enactment.

"By cutting the gold content we can raise prices," Warren said.

"Raised prices will make it easier for men to pay their debts. Business will start, profits will accrue. It becomes easier to pay taxes.

"Wages will rise, since business will start.

"The greatest benefit will be realized by the home owner, the farmer and other debtors.

"It will be of great benefit to holders of life insurance because while the policies will be of less value in the smaller dollar the companies will remain solvent."

Warren added that it would be "impossible" for America to pay its public and private debts without devaluing the dollar.

Within a few days the window decorating contest will be inaugurated with decorators from Corsicana department stores vieing with each other in the drive to produce the most effective window dressing.

The names of the out of town representatives on the reception committee are also scheduled to be announced about the middle of the week.

Sponsors of the project have pointed out that the three-fold purpose of the celebration should insure the support of every citizen in Corsicana and surrounding territory, stating that in the first place it is an effort to spread the spirit of the "new deal" to everyone; secondly, it will honor the president on his fifty-second birthday, and in the third place, it will enable this section of the state to make a neat contribution to the endowment fund of the Warm Springs Foundation, which is engaged in the treatment of children crippled by infantile paralysis, and also the development of preventitive measures.

Chairman W. P. McCammon of the decorations committee announced that the work of his group would be completed in a few days following a meeting of the members Monday morning.

He also announced that those who desired to decorate the windows of the Davis building and compete for the prize offered for the best display should get in touch with him before 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. It was reported that the windows would be signed in the order in which applications were made.

President Is Ready Recognize New Cuba Regime

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today notified the diplomats of Central and South America that he was ready to recognize the new Cuban government.

An early statement was in prospect.

The president met very briefly with the Latin-American diplomatic corps, reporting what has occurred in Cuba and outlining his own attitude for recogntion of the Mendieta regime.

The diplomats left the White House to communicate with their own governments and a general recognition of the new Cuban regime appeared in prospect. There was no round-table discussion.

CONTRACTS

35 per cent the acres taken out of production will run more than 90,000.

A majority of the committeemen have reported to the central office that their efforts are being slowed and materially handicapped by the failure of the producers to have Table 2 or the records of production for the years from 1928-32 inclusive ready when the contract is presented for signature.

Producer Must Give Figures.

Apparently many of the producers believe that these figures hould be secured by the committeemen, but central officials said that this was not the case, but the figures must be given by the producer. These figures must be given for each of the five years of the base period, and the necessary data includes the numbers of bales produced, the average weight of lint per bale in pounds, the total amount of lint produced in pounds, the acres of land planted in cotton each year, and the yield of lint per acre in pounds.

All producers who have not yet secured copies of the contract forms are urged to call at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce at once and secure a complete set of the form and have them filled out with all of the questions answered in proper fashion, so that the committeemen's efforts might be facilitated as far as possible.

Officials in charge of the campaign indicated that the assistance of Corsicana merchants and others might be sought later in the week if needed to complete the drive by the deadline.

A tabulating force was started to work Saturday checking the contract forms and preparing to make daily reports to Washington on the success of the campaign during the remainder of the month, and to transmit the signed forms to national headquarters.

Beaumont Girl Inherits Huge Oil Fortune

BEAUMONT, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A golden-haired 13-year-old Beaumont girl is heir to a fortune estimeted at $3,200,000.

She is Mildred Yount, daughter of the late M. F. Yount, prominent capitalist and oil man who died Nov. 13, 1933.

A state inheritance tax report filed with county clerk listed the girl's fortune at $3,200,000 with deductable gross indebtedness of $350,000. It was estimated that the state's port of the fortune would be about $170,000.

Mildred's share of the estate was divided as follows: Real estate $300,000; stocks and bonds $2,500,000; cash $250,000; livestock $25,000 and other property $125,000.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS FOR RELIEF TEXAS DESTITUTE NEAR

AUSTIN, Jan. 22.—(AP)—George H. Sheppard, secretary of the Texas bond commission, agency charged with the sale of state relief bonds, said he expected funds from the sale of $1,602,000 in bonds on which bonds were received today to be available within the next few days.

The bond commission received bids on that amount of bonds at 1:30 p. m., today and immediately started tabulating them.

Sale of the bonds was handled through a group of bankers. Sheppard said he believed the total offered had been subscribed.

Approval of the bonds by New York bond attorneys will delay delivery of the money to the state treasury for a few days, Sheppard said.

The bond commission adjourned pending a completion of the bid tabulation.

George H. Sheppard, state comptroller and bond commission member, said he had been advised by bankers supervising sale of the bonds, that all the bonds would be sold. Bonds on which the commission received bids the day constituted the unsold portion of an original issue of $2,750,000.

Sheppard said he understood the commission would be asked to advertise immediately for bids on the second issue of $2,750,000.

Issuance of $5,500,000 in state relief bonds was authorized by the legislature after the electorate, by constitutional amendment, had voted to issue up to $20,000,000 in bonds for relief. A special session of the Texas legislature would be necessary before additional bonds can be issued.

Johnson Wants Remain Dictator NRA Without Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt conferred today with General Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, on the issue of protecting small enterprise under the NRA, and Johnson said afterward he hoped additional legislation would be unnecessary.

"I'd like to see this law given a real test," said Johnson at the White House, "and while some amendments may be necessary I would prefer to meet the problem of helping small [illegible] without legislation.

"Some of these codes have been in operation for only [illegible] months. Let's give it a real [illegible]

Asked what he thought of Roosevelt order naming the federal trade commission and the department of justice to act [illegible] on complaints against the NRA, Johnson replied:

"Well, I wrote it."

KEEPING YOUR FIGURE

Don't let your figure become middle aged, for it need not do so.

If you pay proper attention to diet, and if you take exercise, you will always have a lovely, young, supple figure. Diet will prevent rheumatic troubles, which stiffen many figures, diet will prevent fat, which will over-lay your muscles and ruin every line of your body.

Exercise of some sort you must take, especially if you have had a child, or children. I know very few women these days who do not exercise strenuously — some from work and plain necessity, some because rich food and a sedentary life would harm them if they did not do something about it.

In Hollywood there are gymnasiums, the fad for riding bicycles, for riding cow ponies out over the desert. You might get up a group of friends and found your own gymnasium, you might even, among you, hire one of those electric quilts or blankets, in which, in turn, you can lie and perspire off weight or get rid of boids. You might get up a class and someone come in and give you the ballet exercises— for those are better for your figure than any other form of exercise that I can think of.

Try some yourself! Stretch to touch the floor with the hands, knees straight. Have a bar fastened close to a wall, a little more than the height of a chair back. Learn to stand with one foot on this, and as you stand, to bend right and left, forward and backward, balancing on one foot, the other on the rail. Holding the rail, learn to kick backward, throwing back your head as you do so—marvellous for the tummy! Learn the side kicks too, which are easy, but bring other muscles into play And do all the dancing you can, whenever you can.

H. R.—When flaxen gold hair turns to a light brown, as it usually does as the person comes to adult age, the shade may be very much improved if a henna rinse is used after the shampoo. If the rinse does not give enough tint to the natural color, add the henna next time of the shampoo directly to the lather, rub through the hair and leave it on from five to ten minutes before continuing the shampoo. Hair of that shade may be given the least tint toward the color any darker, and the the copper color without making whole effect will be that of more vitality to the hair itself, while there will be no suggestion of any coloring being added. It may take a little practice, but it is easily attained if not overdone at the start.

Fairfield Water And Sewer Plans Given Approval

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 20.—(Spl.)—W. W. Steward, Jr., states that the plans for aFirfield's water and sewer systems have been approved by the state organization at Fort Worth, and were sent to Washington about two weeks ago for final approval by the federal department. It is not known how soon the plans will be finally approved or the project ready for construction.

It is gratifying to know that the plans have met the approval of the state board, and it is doubtless only a matter of a short time until the project will be under construction.

Freestone County Farmers Accepting Cotton Contracts

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 20.—(Spl.)—Freestone county farmers are accepting the cotton reduction plan in a fine spirit as a whole. County Agent Frederick and Assistant Administrator Miller have held twelve meetings with 1165 farmers present .These farmers realize that this program must be put over and they are not only signing contracts to cut their acreage, but are assisting their neighbors to make the decision that it is far better to work fewer acres and receive a higher price than to plant more acres and receive a smaller price.

Initial offerings were absorbed by covering combined with some trade and local buying and prices held fairly steady after the call. The opening action of the stock market was encouraging and there was some Wall street buying with active months showing rallies of 3 or 4 points from the lowest at the end of the first half hour. Part of the early selling was attributed to disappointing reports from Washington concerning last week's development in connection with the gin control bill, while there may have been some buying on rports of a continued firm spot basis in the South.

Offerings tapered off after the initial selling had run its course and the market was steadier during the late forenoon. In addition to trade buying, there appeared to be some covering or rebuying by recent sellers on the rally which carried the price of March contracts up to 11.24 and July to 11.53, or about 1 to 3 points above Saturday's closing quotations. The market at midday was quiet within a point or two of these figures.

ARBITRATION MAY BRING PEACE FOR NEW ORLEANS VOTE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The city Democratic primary tomorrow will be held under the surveillance of a patrol of 300 armed men subject to orders from an arbitration committee drawn from all factions, and under the therat of persecution by the district attorney if any registration or ballot box frauds are attempted.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, bitterly at odds politically with Senator Huey P. Long, threatened last week to use 10,000 policemen if necessary to insure an orderly election and Gov. O. K. Allen, friendly to Long, offered a gesture of state troops when an investigation of payrolls of state departbents located in New Orleans was suggested by the district attorney.

"But today factional armed uprisings had capitulated to the settlement of polling disputes that may arise by the arbitration of seven citizens drawn from all factions who were enlisting 300 special police guards for election day duty.

Under the agreement reached the regular policemen will not be permitted to wear partisan badges and no liquor may be sold or consumed at or near a voting booth.

The four candidates for mayor who approved the arbitration agreement on behalf of their candidaces and the tickets they head were: Mayor Walmsley, seeking re-election at the head of the old regular organization ticket; Francis Williams, independent candidate, heading his ticket of asserted anti-Long and anti-Walmsley candidates; John Klorer, candidate for mayor on the Huey Long ticket, and Herbert Homes, a candidate classed as an independent.

District Attorney Eugene Stanley's name appeared on both the Francis Williams and the Mayor Walmsley tickets.

Oats No. 2 red 48-49; No. 3 red 47-48.

Wheat Prices Sag.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A tendency to await monetary developments at Washington did much to curtail buying interest in the wheat market today, and to make prices sag.

The downward disposition of wheat values was increased as a result of liberal receipts, espiecially at Kansas City. Messages from Kansas City, however, said the arrivals there today were mainly from interior terminals and not from rural sources.

Wheat closed unsteady, 3-4 to 1 cent under Saturday's finish, corn 1-8 to 3-8 off, oats 1-4 to 1-2 down, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

MODIFIED APPROVAL OF OIL MARKETING AND PURCHASE PLAN

AGREEMENTS, ALTERNATIVE TO PRICE-FIXING SCHEDULE, ARE NOW EFFECTIVE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Secretary Ickes, acting as the oil code administrator, today gave modified approval to the purchase and marketing agreements submitted to him as a plan for stabilizing the industry.

The agreements, submitted originally by 24 companies as an alternative to a proposed price-fixing schedule, become effective immediately.

The secretary approved an order making a violation of the agreements also a violation of the oil code and subject to a fine of $500 per day for each day of violation, or six months imprisonment.

In his modifications, the secretary entirely disapproved section 4 of the marketing agreement which provided for unusually severe penalties for those violating the marketing agreement.

The purpose of the two agreements was:

1. To take the so-called "distress" gasoline, which seriously affects gasoline prices, off the market by the establishment of a stabilization pool, and

2. To set up a code of fair marketing practices to eliminate unethical marketing practices in the trade.

Safeguard Imposed.

A safeguard was imposed in the approval in a specification that Ickes, as oil administrator, might cancel the agreements at any time should he deem such action advisable in the public interest. The approval included provision of standard forms of contract for use in future dealings in motor fuels between signatories to the marketing agreements, representing 85 per cent of the national supply of gasoline and other petroleum products, and those with which they deal directly and indirectly, in the industry.

"This agreement," Ickes said in a statement, "is in many instances a step forward. The problem of lease and agency and lease and license agreements, which has been a very difficult one for the industry, has been satisfactorily adjusted by providing for the cancellation of all such agreements, which may be cancelled by August 19, 1934, or earlier. This will tend to make a free and competitive retail market for gasoline and lubricating oils. * * *

Margin To Retail Dealers

"The marketing agreement guarantees a margin to retail dealers. I believe that these margins are large enough to permit the vast majority of those now in the business to operate at a reasonable profit. A gross marketing margin of six cents is allowed on gasoline above 60 octane rating (octane rating is a unit of measurement of the anti-knock quality of gasoline. Most of the gasoline sold is 60 octane or above), and 4 1-2 cents is allowed for gasoline below 60 octane rating.

"Another advantage of this plan of stabilization is that periodic price wars should be prevented."

Some Reservations

"I have approved the purchase agreement subject to certain specified reservations necessary for the protection of the public and of those in the industry who may not become parties to the agreement. My objective is to relieve the market of distress gasoline without unduly reducing the amount available to supply consumer demand.

"My purpose in approving the marketing agreement is to stabilize the retail price structure for gasoline and to regulate practices considered by many injurious to the industry as a whole.

"In approving this agreement, frankly, I am experimenting.

"The agreement is not to be effective until it has been signed by refiners representing 85 per cent of the crude runs to stills in the country during the month of November, 1933, including charging and refining operations.

Monopoly Feared

"The suggestion has been made that these agreements may tend to create a monopoly. I will not allow such a result to obtain and I shall not hesitate to cancel these agreements upon the slightest evidence of their being abused. Furthermore, I will not tolerate any unwarranted increase in the retail prices of gasoline caused by their operation. The consumer must be given the fullest protection.

"With regard to the purchase agreement I have deemed it advisable to provide that there shall be close and continuous governmental supervision of the operations of the purchasing agncy to the ends that there shall be no discrimination against independent refiners and marketers, and that a competitive market safeguarding the normal flow of gasoline will continue to exist without any unfair restrictions.

"I know that the marketing agreement is subject to criticism and I have doubt as to the wisdom of many of the provisions contained therein. I wish to make it clear that my approval is subject to modification for the purpose of preventing its unfair operation.

"The agreement provides for a differential of ¼ cent in the margins to be allowed as between divided and undivided accounts. I am not entirely satisfied with the justification given for this differential. However, I am willing to give this provision a trial. In order to protect refiners who deal in limited classes of motor fuels, I have provided that this differential may be changed for any dealers buying from such refiners in any given locality, upon a vote of 75 per cent of the refiners in region which is approved by the planning and coordination committee and by me.

"Section 2 of the marketing agreement provides: * * * That all cancellable contracts of sale now outstanding must be cancelled at the earliest possible date. This requires the cancellation of all lease and agency and lease and license contracts which have cancellation clauses. * * *

"I have modified my approval of the marketing agreement as follows:

"Lease and agency, lease and license and any other exclusive dealing sales contracts made with dealers subsequent to Aug. 19, 1933, which include the sale of gasoline and for other motor fuel, must be cancelled forthwith. All such contracts renewed since August 19, 1933 in accordance with Article V, Rule 19, paragraph (B) of the code must be cancelled at the earliest cancellation date permissible under their terms. All lease and agency, lease and license and other exclusive dealing contracts which expire prior to August 19, 1934, shall not be renewed, and all contracts having a cancellation clause must be cancelled on or before that date. No new exclusive dealing contracts of any kind may be written except upon the standard form of contract approved by the planning and coordination committee for the petroleum industry and by me. * * *

"I have directed the petroleum administrative board to hold hearings upon the validity of lease and agency, lease and license, and other types of exclusive dealing sales contracts with dealers, in order definitely to determine their legality. * * *

No Differential Provision

"The marketing agreement makes no provision for a differential as between the various grades of gasoline and as between differing methods of marketing.

"* * * Since the marketing agreement is a stabilization plan adopted by so large a group in the industry, I am unwilling to make any substantial changes therein without affording it a fair trial. Any operator in any locality who can establish to my satisfaction that he is entitled to a price differential will be granted permission to pass on to the public his actual saving in the cost of distribution. Hearings to determine the facts will be held by the petroleum administrative board upon the complaint of any interested operator. * * *

"I have carefully considered paragraph A of section 1, of the marketing agreement which provides that stabilization committees to enforce certain provisions of this agreement "shall consist of one representative from each of two major integrated companies and one representative from a smaller integrated company, all of which companies shall have territorial and not merely local interest it has not been satisfactorily explained to me why independent refiners have not been given representation on these committees. I have therefore modified my approval of the agreement to provide that the stabilization committees shall consist of two repreeentatives of integrated companies and one representative from an independent refiner."

TEXAS WORKERS ON CURTAILED HOURS UNDER NEW ORDERS

CWA FORCES GET BIG SLASH TO MAKE FUNDS LAST UNTIL MORE AWARDED

AUSTIN, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Texas CWA workers went on a drastically reduced working week today.

Acting on instructions of Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, Texas CWA officials ordered the hours of CWA employees in cities of more than 2,600 reduced from 30 to 24 hours a week and reduced the number of hours of work in rural communities from 30 to 15.

It was estimated by Texas officials the curtailed hours would reduce CWA activities in Texas by about one-half. Purchase of materials and supplies for CWA projects also was ordered discontinued.

The curtailment was ordered, Hopkins stated, because weekly CWA payrolls had exceeded the original estimates.

The order to discontinue cash outlays for supplies and materials includes truck and team hire on construction projects. It was probable much of this type of work will be discontinued unless cities and counties furnish teams and trucks, CWA officials said. A large portion of CWA projects consist of road improvements.

"This (Hopkins' order) applies to all civil works and civil works service employees and must be made effective everywhere on this date since disbursing officers will be instructed not to pay wages for work in excess of the hours provided herein," Hopkins telegraphed. "From this date no name shall be added to any payroll except in actual replacement of a worker terminated and finally paid off."

Sudden Stop-Order Will Conserve Cash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—A sudden stop-order on the parceling out of 500,000 new jobs, couples with a drastic slash in all working weeks, was the answer of the Civil Works administration today to its fast dwindling money supply.

Official estimates were that about 4,000,000 CWA workers in every section of the United States would draw reduced pay envelopes.

All civil works job-giving throughout the country, where many applications for work were still being filled, was called to a halt. The only exception made was for replacnig workers who had quit and been paid off.

At least one protest against the orders dispatches from CWA headquarters was placed on file almost as soon as the move became known. The executive committee of the United States conference of mayors said in a statement:

"We have now come back to the thoroughly vicious dole system."

The sudden contraction in civil works activities was expected to add speed to a request President Roosevelt will send to Capitol Hill shortly for an additional $1,116,000,000 for the federal recovery units. Funds would be allowed from this to carry on civil works until May 1.

Indications were given at CWA headquarters that had immediate retrenchments not been made existing funds might have been exhausted within little more than another week.

Effective today, Harry L. Hopkins, the administrator, ordered all state adminis'rators to cut all 30-hour work-weeks to 24 in cities of 2,600 and over, and to reduce these hours in smaller communities to 15 a week.

He cancelled directions issued last Monday whereby about 500,000 jobs would have been given through cutting in half all 30-hour weeks in smaller communities and hiring an equal number of men on 15-hour weeks.

SEVEN CONVICTS IN LANSING PRISON IN SUCCESSFUL ESCAPE

SCALED PRISON WALLS AMID FUSSILADE OF SHOTS FROM GUARDS TODAY

LANSING, KAS., Jan. 19. (AP)—Seven convicts, at least four of them accused or convicted of murder, escaped from the Kansas state prison shortly before 7 a. m. today after overpowering, but not harming, Guard Clyde Deer.

Three hours after their escape they well still at large. Prison guards, national guardsmen, peace officers of nearby cities and counties and federal agents were engaged in a search. The fleeing convicts were not armed when they scaled the south wall with the aid of a ladder improvised from scrap wood, and a hose used as a rope. Guards, who fired at them in the darkness, believe some of their bullets took effect.

Two who fled were Bob Brady and Jim Clark, two of the 11 who escaped last Memorial Day under the leadership of Wilbur Underhill, now dead, and Harvey Bailey, now serving a life term in nearby Leavenworth federal penitentiary for participation in the $200,0000 ransom abduction of Charles F. Uurchel, Oklahoma oil millionaire.

Others who escaped were Benjamin Young, Tommie McMahan, Frank Delmar, Fred Cody and Charles Clifton McArthur, alias Claude Newton.

Milton R. McLean, adjutant general of the Kansas national guard, ordered out two batteries of artillery, Fort Scott and Iola; and cavlalry troops from Coffeyville and Pleasanton, to guard against the convicts gaining outlaw retreats in the Spavinaw hills of Northeastern Oklahoma.

The last definite report of the convicts came from the guards. They said the seven scattered as soon as they dropped over the wall.

Later there were unconfirmed reports convicts had been seen near Walcott and Victory junction, not far from the prison.

Members of the family of J. E. Birt, two miles southeast of the prison said a strange motorcar stood for two hours near their farm between 5 and 7 a. m. Thursday. They said they did not see it today.

FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION IS NOW BEING ORGANIZED

TO MAKE APPLICATION WHEN FORTY SUBSCRIBERS ARE SECURED

Lists were in circlation Friday afternoon to secure forty signers in Corsicana who desired to participate in the organization of a federal savings and loan association following a meeting of interested persons at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce during the morning.

It was announced that as soon as the forty subscribers had been secured application would be made for a federal charter and the remaining work of organization completed as quickly as possible. Several of those attending the meeting signed the lists before they started circulating.

Details of the set-up for the proposed association were presented by N. V. Morgan, special representative of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock, who will also assist in the organization if the project is started.

Government Interested.

Mr. Morgan stated that the government was particularly interested in the buildings and loan associations and had extensively studied the various types of organizations and operations before entering the field, and had found that the twelve billions invested in such companies in the United States was 99.8 per cent good; he stated that the government was interested in presenting some safe investment for those who wished to make monthly savings with some return from their cash.

The organizer explained that the new associations were made possible through a large appropriation by congress, and each of the new groups organized was required to have in its name the words "federal savings and loan association" indicating that the government was a partner in the firm. Each new association must have a capital stock of $50,000 with $5,000 paid up within a short time after the charter is issued.

Some Expense.

He stated that there wocld necessarily be some expense of operation but that no handsome salaries were contemplated, and that the setup anticipated an annual return of five per cent although this might not be achieved in the first year, pointing out that the greater the safety of the investment the lower the yield as a general rule.

Mr. Morgan pointed out that the organization was designed to attract all types of citizens from those who could make only a small monthly payment to those who could invest large lump sums; it was also designed to be a source of capital for building operations and loans running from 5 to 20 years.

Various Types of Shares.

He explained the various types of shares available including the monthly installment plan, optional payments, prepaid shares, and fully paid types. It was stated that the government would match the investments in the association dollar for dollar on the paid-up capital to the extent of $100,000.

Every association is required to be a member of the federal home loan bank system, and local organizations would be members of the Home Loan Bank of Little Rock, capitalized for $10,000,000 and which carned a dividend of four per cent last year. The minimum membership is $1,500, and this gives the association the right to borrow twelve times its membership investment.

Mr. Morgan pointed out that this membership and government participation would prevent the freezing of assets which has caused some distress among existing firms.

Bankers Favor Organization.

He reported that Corsicana bankers were in favor of the organization of such an association in this city but wanted to see enough display of interest to insure the success of the project. He then detailed the manner in which the association would be operated through a board of directors named by the stockholders, and under federal supervision; stating that loans could be made within a fifty mile radius but that funds could be secured anywhere possible.

At the close of the meeting several of those present signed for shares in the new project and plans were made for circulating the lists among other potential investors.

TEXAS WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH WITH TWO SONS UNDER ARMS

SPECTACULAR SUICIDE OF MRS. W. S. GROOCH IN SHANGHAI FRIDAY

SHANGHAI, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. W. S. Grooch of El Paso, Texas, took her two sons, William, 6, and Thomas, 7—one under each arm—and jumped off the roof of an 8-story apartment house today. All three were killed.

Mrs. Grooch was the wife of the operations manager of the Pacific-American Airways. Their home was in the apartment building from which she jumped one of the most fashionable in the French concession.

When he heard of the tragedy, Grooch lost consciousness as a result of the shock.

The cause for the suicide was not explained.

Mrs. Grooch came here in December from Rio De Janeiro, where she lived six years while her husband was associated there with Pan-American Airways.

Grooch, himself, is one of the leading aviation officials in the Far East. He came here in May, 1932, for the Pacific American Line which is a subsidiary of Pan-American Airways and operated between Shanghai and Canton.

Last August 14 he flew an exploratory plane from Hong Kong to Manila, preparatory to the establishment of a Shanghai-Manila air line, the first leg of a trans-Pacific air service.

Authorities learned that Mrs. Grooch had been scheduled to sail for the United States tonight aboard the S. S. President Wilson to reach the bedside of her father, whom she had been informed, was so seriously ill he might die.

Grooch Born Beaumont.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(AP)—W. S. Grooch, whose wife committed suicide in Shanghai, is registered in the aviation section of the department of commerce as a pilot for the Pan-American Airways at Miami, Fla.

Nothing concerning his family was contained in the records. His birthplace was given as Beaumont, Texas.

CWA PROJECTS IN CITY AND COUNTY GREATLY CURTAILED

READJUSTMENTS ARE BEING MADE COMPLY WITH LATEST ORDERS

Corsicana and Navarro county CWA projects were in uncertain stages Friday following the receipt of new orders from the Texas relief commission based on the curtailment orders issued in Washington Thursday. Readjustments were being planned and every offort was being made to keep as many men employed as possible.

Probably the hardest blow dealt by the new orders was the regulation preventing the continuation of the hiring of teams and trucks now in use on a majority of the projects in the county. Local officials were hopeful early Friday that the teams and trucks might be continued on projects now in progress and under contract, but the relief commission advised the Corsicana Daily Sun about noon that the order affected all teams and trucks.

Because of this regulation work in the county on road projects at Dawson, Kerens and Richland was forced to be discontinued, at least for the time being, and the men will be absorbed on other approved projects as rapidly as possible.

Effective Friday workers on projects inside the corporate limits of Corsicana had their working week cut to 24 hours in place of the 30 they have been receiving, and workers on all projects outside the city will receive only 15 hours. The length of the working day in each case will be left up to the supervisor in charge, local relief officials said.

City Engineer W. W. McClendon announced at noon Friday that sufficient buildings materials were on hand to complete the shelterhouse and picnic structures at Lake Halbert but at the present time only the dirt work could be done on the new road to the site of the beautification project. Gravelling of the new road was suposed to have started Friday morning but the weather and the new orders effectively stopped this procedure.

KIDNAPED SCHOOL TEACHER RELEASED UNHARMED SATURDAY

AN INTENSIVE SEARCH FOR ESCAPED KANSAS CONVICTS MADE IN OKLAHOMA

PLEASANTON, Kas., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A car answering the description of that seen before noon at Poala, Kas., and near Osawatomie, Kas., believed to be carrying four escaped Kansas prisoners stopped at the Ray Cornelius home, six miles east of here early this aftrnoon.

T. W. Hughes was in the house. He had been warned of the presence of the desperadoes in the neighborhood.

Pleasanton is about 25 miles southeast of Osawatomie, only a few miles from the Missouri-Kansas line.

Failing to gain entrance to the house, which Hughes had locked, the men departed about five minutes after they stopped.

Hughes said he watched the men from behind an upstairs curtain. He had a rifle at his side. He said one of the men answered the description of Tommy McMahan, one of the escaping prisoners.

On departing the men headed in the direction of Pleasanton, he said.

Hughes immediately notified authorities and national guardsmen were stationed on highways leading into Pleasanton.

SENATE MONDAY PASSED GUARANTEE FARM BOND BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The senate today passed the house bill providing government guarantee for the authorized $2,000,000,000 of farm mortgage refinancing bonds.

There was no record vote.

The measure urged by President Roosevelt to speed up refinancing of the farm debt, now goes back to the house for action on senate changes.

The principal senate amendments provide no farm mortgage loans can be made after February 1, 1936, and reduce the number of members of the proposed federal farm mortgage corporation from 5 to 3, composed of the governor of the form credit administration, the secretary of the treasury of a treasury officer designated by him, and the land bank commissioner.

The present law only guarantees the interest of the bonds, but the administration takes the position the government is morally obligated for the full amount.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) offered an amendment to authorize another $100,000,000 for crop loans for this year, but withdrew it at the request of the demorcatic leader, Robinson of Arkansas, who said the administration would propose a reduction in the aggregate amount and cuts in individual crop loans when a similar bill by Senator Smith (D-SC) comes up in a few days.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF RAILROADS WAS FAVORED IN REPORT

FEDERAL COORDINATOR BELIEVES GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP NOW UNWISE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—While saying it would be "unwise" to move immediately for consolidation or government ownership of the railroads, Joseph B. Eastman—federal "co-ordinator" for the rails—in his report today to the president and congress outlined two plans involving federal control.

Apparently these were intended merely to facilitate congressional study of legislation affecting the railroads, the plans not being recommended by Eastman.

One was for outright government ownership of all the railroads. The other called for a group of federal corporations to control vast consolidated systems.

The plan for federal ownership was submitted without its authorship being disclosed, but many considered it written in large part by Eastman. The other was written by Leslie Craven, a technical expert on Eastman's staff.

The ownership plan follows in essence, with a note that it was "intended to suggest some of the possibilities:"

"Ownership: Properties to be owned by a federal corporation chartered by special act of congress, the stock to be nominal in amount and owned by the United States. Corporation to be named the United States Railways. The properties would be acquired through bonds of this corporation guaranteed by the government. x x x

Management Outlined.

"Management: United States Railways to be managed by a board of five (possibly seven) public trustees appointed by the president with the advice and consent of the senate for terms of 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10 years, respectively, reappointments to be for 10 years. Trustees to be removable only for cause and to have salaries the same as those paid justices of the supreme court. x x x

"United States Railways to be conducted after the manner of a private corporation and upon a self-sustaining basis so far as possible. Could be made subject to civil service regulations, if desired, but probably not necessary.

"Trustees to have full control over all salaries and wages, subject to complete right of organization and collective bargaining by employes, and to be prohibited from employing, discharging, promoting, or demoting any officer or employe at the solicitation of any public or political party officer. Such officers to be prohibited from such solicitation.

Trustees' Powers.

"Trustees to have full power to sub-divide properties as they see fit for purposes of management and operation, and to create subsidiary federal corporations for this purpose if deemed advisable.

"Advisory Council: Such a council to be made up of 24 unpaid members selected by groups specified in the act and representing business, agriculture, labor, and the like. Advisory council to be consulted by trustees on such questions of general policy as either the council or the trustees request be so considered. x x x

"Taxation: Taxes to be paid by United States Railways to the federal government like any private corporation, and also to be paid to states and municipalities, provided they agree to uniform [illegible] provisions approved by the [illegible].

"Bonds: Trustees to have power to issue bonds of the United States Railways at their discretion, to provide for new construction or additions and betterments, to purchase properties of other transportation agencies, and to provide for debt maturities if no other funds are available for this purpose. Sinking funds to be provided for all bonds.

Rates Be Reasonable.

"Rates: Trustees to be under duty, so far as practicable, of producing net earnings sufficient to meet all charges, including fixed interest and sinking fund provisions. x x x

"Deficiences: Government to meet any deficiences in earnings, but the repayment of such appropriations to be a charge on the future earnings of the corporation.

"Regulation: United States Railways to be relieved of regulation by the interstate commerce commission, except over rates, accounting, certificates for new construction, and acquisitions of other transportation agencies, but commission to have no power to suspend changes in rates.

"Other Agencies: United States Railways to have power to acquire other agencies of transportation, subject to approval of commission, including terms and conditions.

"The essence of the Craven plan follows.

"Compulsory consolidation to be inaugurated at any time within, but before the end of a relatively short period, say, four years, and succeeding such co-ordinative activities in the way of pooling, etc., as may be required under the present emergency legislation.

Federal Corporation.

"The creation of federal corporations to hold the consolidated systems, upon the boards of which will be public representatives, who will be members of the staff of a permanent federal co-ordinator.

"The creation of the office of a permanent co-ordinator, a non-political executive, acting as a co-ordinative administrative agency, assigned certain of the administrative functions of the commission, and having important functions with reference to research work and labor problems.

"A new consolidation statute providing for a flexible procedure. x x x

"An amalgamation board, established as a special administrative tribunal, with power to approve or modify the proposed plans, its determinations to be final, not arbitrary or based upon error of law.

"Declaration of policy by the government to establish rates insuring adequate railroad earnings, thus guaranteeing no certain return."

5,000 Birthd ay Balls to Honor President January 30

And to Help Finance Fight on Infantile Paralysis

GETTING READY FOR THE BIGGEST BIRTHDAY PARTY IN AMERICAN HISTORY

Joining a majority of the other communities of the nation in honoring President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he becomes 52 years old on Tuesday, January 30, plans for the Corsicana Birthday Ball for the President and attendant celebrations were moving forward rapidly. Reports received early Friday indicated that more than a hundred tickets had been sold for the party on the first day and a half of the campaign, and promised sales ran into the hundreds.

The purpose of the local celebration is to help endow an extension of the nation-wide work of the Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in which the President is so deeply interested. The funds will be used both to assist in the treatment of crippled children and in the continuation of intensive research into the causes and prevention of the dread disease.

Clayton Hickerson And Jessie Kellum Were Married Sunday

Miss Jessie Kellum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kellum, 720 West Seventh avenue, and Clayton Hickerson, son of Mrs. E. N. Rylie, were married Sunday, January 21 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kellum. The Rev. Thomas Lenox, pastor of the First Christian church, read the ceremony in the presence of members of the families and close friends.

The bride wore a smart swagger suit of blue-grey tweed with many blue accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds and lacy fern.

The only attendants were Evelyn Wood and Everett Kellum, brother of the bride, who preceded the bride and groom down the stairway to the improvised altar in the living room, fashioned of ferns.

Miss Lena Mae McClure played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the party entered, and played softly during the impressive ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickerson left immediately, in their car, for a short wedding trip, and upon their return will be at home temporarily, at 622 West Fifth avenue.

The bride is a junior in the high school, and the groom, who graduated from the high school in 1930 attended the State University two years, and is now in business with his father at the Rylie Rent Service station on West Fifth avenue. He was one of the most active students during his high school career, he having been vice-president of the sophomore, junior and senior classes, editor of the Blue and Gold in 1930, and athletic editor, '29; chosen as the most dependable boy in high school '29, and most representative boy in '30; duke of the junior class; and took part in the "Corsican Follies" 'and the Senior Play '30. These are only a few of activities that he figured in.

Among those attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Kellum, the bride's parents; Mr. and Mrs. Rylie, the groom's parents; Miss Lena Mae McClure, Mrs. C. E. Leighton, Mrs. J. H. Brown, Mrs. J. M. Westbrook, Juanita Westbrook, Paget Marr, Evelyn Wood, Everett Kellum, Frances Harlee, Mary Rylie and Audie Kellum.

Shower for Bride.

Evelyn Wood was hostess for a surprise shower Saturday morning for the bride-to-be, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kellum.

Everything was arranged and the 17 girl friends had arrived while Miss Kellum was away from home for a short time. Upon her return she was greeted by the bevy of girls and was escorted to the seat of honor. A word building contest, using the letters in the names Hickerson-Kellum resulted in Jeannette Foster winning the prize, which she presented the honoree. Another feature of entertainment was a game of questions and answers on marriage, which was quite amusing.

At this time, Mrs. Clyde Sher disguised as a colored washwoman, came in with a clothes basket, seemingly with the week's washing, which proved to be a basket of lovely gifts for the honoree. After the gifts had been admired by all delicious punch and cookies were served.

Stag Dinner for Groom.

The groom was the honoree on Saturday evening at the home of Paget Marr, of a stag, buffet dinner given by the following boys: Paget Marr, Max Bowden, H. R. McCandless, Marvin Nolen, Jack Roberts, Harry Bryant, Wayland Halbert, Philip Gibson, J. C. Gaston, Jack DeWitt, Guy Gibson, John Mays and Billie Delahay.

The lace laid table was centered with a large birthday cake and white candles in silver holders. Miss Kellum was invited over to cut the cake when the dinner was served and a toast was given to the bride and groom by Max Bowden.

Recent Bride Was Given Miscellaneous Shower at Fairfield

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 20.—(Spl.)—Mrs. Floris Schick, nee Miss Josephine Newell, was honored with a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Mrs. H. B. Steward, Tuesday afternoon by a number of her girl friends.

After the guests had been seated in the lovely reception suite by Mrs. Steward, the honoree arrived. She was charming in a black satin ensemble and was seated in the chair designated for her.

At this time a delightful program was presented as follows:

CALDWELL RELEASED ON BAIL AFTER NEW TRIAL IS REFUSED

WAXAHACHIE, Jan. 19.—Currie Caldwell of Corsicana was released on bond in the sum of $7,500.00 Thursday following the over-ruling of a motion for a new trial by District Judge Tom Ball.

Caldwell was convicted and assessed ten years last week by a jury in the local court on an indictment for assault of a person while masked and in disguise as a result of the kidnaping of Robert Cerf, Corsicana, Dec. 9, 1930, and the subsequent payment of $15,000 for his release by his father, I. N. Cerf.

The case is being appealed to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The case was sent here from Corsicana on a change of venue. Caldwell was convicted at Corsicana in 1931 and was given 12 years, but the case was reversed by the higher court.

MRS. VAN HOOK'S LEG BROKEN WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. W. C. Van Hook, aged about 74 years, is in the Navarro Clinic, in a serious condition with a broken left leg, as a result of being struck early Friday night in front of the St. John's Episcopal Parish Hall by a car, driven by Robert Owen. Attending physicians and clinic attaches said she received no other injuries, and that she has an excellent chance for recovery.

Mrs. Van Hook got out of an automobile on the south side of the street, and started toward the Parish Hall, where she was going to attend the annual supper, and was hit by the car. She was taken immediately to the Navarro Clinic, where she was given surgical attention. She was resting very nicely Saturday afternoon.

Special Aid Will Keep 100,000 Men At Work in Texas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief and civil works directors, said this afternoon the CWA had approved grants to his state which would prevent "dropping 100,000 men from civil works Monday morning."

The Texan said the administration granted $200,000 weekly for team and truck hire and $250,000 weekly for purchase of materials.

"The lack of funds for those purposes would have put one hundred thousand men out of jobs instantly," he said, "over and above the crtailment in hours already ordered in the administration's stagger system."

Administrator Hopkins announced a few days ago that thereafter all expenditures for materiales and the like in states must be made with specific approval of Washington.

"These grants will enable us to carry forward our road program and the various projects requiring new materials on substantially the same basis as in the past," Westbrook said.

Yearbooks Women's Home Demonstration Clubs Distributed

Yearbooks for Womens' Home Demonstration clubs of Navarro county were distributed to the club presidents and chairman of the program committees of the various units in a meeting held at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon.

The booklet contains 32 pages including the covers, and is entirely mimeographed. The inside pages are of white paper, while the cover is a brilliant scarlet, and the book is bound in black tape after being stapled.

Programs for each of the meetings for each club are contained inside the booklet, including both the meeting with the agent and the meeting without the agent, along with the subject for each month's work and the demonstration and materials needed. The program for each meeting is outlined with blanks left for the names of those assigned parts in the various discussions.

In addition the names of the extension service staff, the county commissioners' court, the State Home demonstration council, and the Navarro county council are presented.

Now! Ease Sore Throat Instantly!

1 Crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water.

2 GARGLE thoroughly — throw your head way back, allowing a little to trickle down your throat.

3 Repeat gargle and do not rinse mouth, allow gargle to remain on membranes of the throat for prolonged effect.

Remember: Only Medicine Helps Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes!

It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN- to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways.

Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles.
